MEET THE PARADE QUEEN & MARSHALL LUNCHEON!!

Mark your calendars for Monday, April 8, 2024 at noon. Plan to join us to meet the 2024 Parade Queen and Parade Marshal.

Pioneer Day was first held on May 2, 1933, as a celebration of the Organic Act that was signed May 2, 1890, and was responsible for annexing the three counties of No Man's Land (Cimarron, Texas, and Beaver), to Oklahoma Territory as Beaver County with Beaver City as its seat of government. Pioneer Day was to be a morale lifter for residents of the three counties to have a reason to unite and celebrate, escaping their harsh living conditions and difficult economic situations. Guymon was chosen for the event as the central location, and the streets were packed with people, wagons, buggies, and cars. It was so successful that Pioneer Day was held on May 2nd for decades, until many people objected when the date fell on Sunday for many years. The celebration was moved to the first weekend in May. Pioneer Queens, nominated from the three counties, were officially honored beginning in 1940. The Parade Marshals, although serving from the beginning to clear the streets for the parade, were not officially recognized until 1964.

Thank you to Dean McFadden for the Pioneer Day Theme suggestion and to Kristy Patterson for the illustration!!

Merle Norman Cosmetics of Guymon

Don't let the name fool you. Merle Norman is so much more than cosmetics! In addition to the Merle Norman line, Ronda carries all things Brighton: jewelry, purses, shoes and more; women's apparel, shoes, and accessories from a variety of amazing companies; as well as chocolates and truffles to satisfy any sweet tooth.

Owner Ronda Purvines opened Merle Norman in a tiny space next door to the Guymon Community Theatre in 1998. It only took a few short years for her to outgrow that space and move into the current location at 419 N Main Street. She enjoys providing good customer service, along with quality merchandise to the Guymon community. "It's a small community. Everyone knows everyone, and I grew up here. I love what I do." Merle Norman also participates in Shop and Dine, which happens the first Thursday of every month from 4-7 pm.

Ronda and her team of three enjoy the customers who become friends. "We love our customers. They become friends and we build relationships with them." They enjoy giving back to the community and helping people. "It is just good customer service."

Ronda hopes to enjoy many more years of providing quality customer service to the Guymon community. Thank you to Ronda and her team of relationship builders. We appreciate you and congratulate you on April Business of the Month!

April Business Spotlight Guymon Tire and Auto Service

With fifteen employees and three on site service trucks, Guymon Tire and Auto is a go to for automobiles, farm equipment and semi trucks and trailers. Guymon Tire has been operating in Guymon for more than 30 years. Javier De Santiago joined the team in 1995 and is now the store manager. "It makes me happy to now be serving a third generation of farm and ranch customers. Their grandfathers were customers, their fathers were customers, and now they are customers." That speaks miles regarding the service that Guymon Tire provides.

Guymon Tire partnered with Kansasland Tire in 2005. Kansasland Tire is a family owned company based in Lexington NE. Kansasland has multiple stores in three states. Guymon Tire is proud to be a member of this company.

Guymon Tire can take care of any tire need, but that is not all that they offer. With their three service trucks, they can take care of your tire needs on the road or on the farm. "We can come to you." They also provide preventative maintenance services including brakes, oil changes, and alignments. In addition, they can take care of semi truck alignments as well. Guymon Tire and Auto Service is open 7:30-5:30 Monday thru Friday and 8:00-12:00 on Saturday.

When asked about the ongoing construction on Highway 54, Javier is very thankful for customers continuing to use their services. "We appreciate their patience in trying to find a passable route to get in and out. If they are having trouble getting here, they can always call for assistance."

Javier and his team pride themselves on good, quick, quality service. "Our customers know us by name and we know them. It is important to continue to provide good customer service." Javier appreciates the support of the community and is thankful that he can make a living and raise his family doing something that he enjoys.

Why Am I So Impatient?

Our daily activities shape how we lead.

There is no way around this principle. It's simply true.

Over the last couple of years, people have noted how everyone seems to be freaking out over the smallest of slights. I, too, feel very impatient with others too much of the time.

And I am starting to understand why.

Living in a completely-curated world creates an environment that contributes to my impatience with others.

- When I discover a new book, I no longer wait to go to a store to pick it up. With a couple of clicks, I can download it to my Kindle. If I want the hard copy, it will be on my doorstep in two days.
- If you are of a certain age, you remember listening to the radio for hours, hoping to hear your favorite song. Now, click on YouTube or Spotify, and “voila”!

The magic of technology makes it easy to do what I want when I want.

That is until others enter my story. Others have wants and needs. Others move at their own pace. Some move too fast. Others move too slowly.

And here's the deal: they live in their overly-curated world, too.

So, if you consistently feel frustrated with others, here are a few practical suggestions.

- On your next trip to the store, choose the longer line and then let someone go in front of you.
- Listen to old-school radio for a day where some DJ, who you will never meet, chooses what you hear.
- The next time you want a book, drive to the local bookstore and pick it up. If they don't have it in stock, ask them to order it.

Engaging in daily activities that force you to slow down, be present, and have less control helps you move at the speed of life.

And as a human-centered, empathy-based, results-oriented leader, one of the greatest gifts you will give your followers is your patience and full presence—and less of that frustrated vibe.
