When the World Needs Hope, Jan Daley Answers with a Powerful New Song

Billboard No. 1 recording artist, internationally acclaimed vocalist, and Women Songwriters Hall of Fame honoree returns with A Time for Hope—a moving new single that reminds us music still has the power to heal, inspire, and unite.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — July 31, 2026 — There are songs that entertain—and there are songs that arrive exactly when we need them.

With "A Time for Hope," award-winning singer, songwriter, actress, and internationally acclaimed vocalist Jan Daley delivers a heartfelt reminder that even in uncertain times, hope remains one of humanity's greatest strengths.

Rich with warmth, compassion, and emotional honesty, the new single reflects the qualities that have defined Jan's extraordinary career for more than five decades. Renowned for her remarkable vocal range and expressive storytelling, Jan moves effortlessly between easy listening, country, traditional jazz, inspirational music, Broadway classics, and the Great American Songbook, creating performances that resonate long after the final note.

"I've always believed music should leave people feeling better than when they arrived," says Jan. "A Time for Hope' is my gift to anyone searching for strength, comfort, or simply a reason to keep believing that brighter days are ahead."

The song's message is rooted in Jan's own life.

After surviving cancer at the age of 23, she discovered a deeper purpose through music. She was also forever shaped by the sacrifice of her father, an American Air Force pilot who never returned from a World War II mission to rescue prisoners of war. His courage, compassion, and unwavering sense of duty inspired Jan's lifelong appreciation for those who serve and reinforced her belief that hope is often born through perseverance.

That same spirit led her to perform around the world with the legendary Bob Hope, entertaining American service members on USO tours—experiences that confirmed music's unique ability to transcend borders, cultures, and generations.

Throughout her distinguished career, Jan Daley has earned recognition as one of today's most versatile performers. Her self-penned album The Way of a Woman reached No. 1 on Billboard's Traditional Jazz Albums Chart, while her recordings have also achieved No. 1 success in International Country and Smooth Jazz. Her songwriting earned her induction into the Women Songwriters Hall of Fame, where The Way of a Woman was selected as the organization's official song.

Produced by legendary Motown producer Michael B. Sutton, "A Time for Hope" beautifully showcases Jan's unmistakable voice—one equally at home delivering an intimate ballad, a timeless jazz standard, a country favorite, or an inspiring anthem.

As the new single reaches audiences worldwide, Jan continues to bring her signature blend of elegance, warmth, humor, and exceptional musicianship to concert stages across the globe. Her live performances are available for performing arts centers, theaters, jazz and country festivals, cruise lines, patriotic celebrations, corporate events, churches, symphony pops, and international concert series.

More than a celebrated recording artist, Jan Daley is a storyteller whose music reminds audiences that hope, kindness, and the human spirit never go out of style.
