McDaniel Law Corp. Privacy Policy

At McDaniel Law Corp., your privacy is not just a policy; it is a fundamental principle guiding every aspect of our practice. We understand the sensitive nature of the information you entrust to us and are unequivocally committed to protecting it. This Privacy Policy outlines our unwavering commitment to safeguarding your personal and confidential data.

Our Pledge: No Sharing of Your Data – Ever.

McDaniel Law Corp. operates under a strict "no data sharing" policy. This means that under no circumstances will we sell, rent, lease, or otherwise share any of your personal data, confidential information, or case details with any third parties, regardless of the reason. This commitment extends to all types of data, including:

Personal Identifiable Information (PII): Such as your name, address, email, phone number, date of birth, Social Security number, and any other information that can identify you personally.

Confidential Case Information: All details related to your legal matters, communications with our firm, legal strategies, documents, and any information shared during the course of our representation.

Financial Information: Payment details, billing records, and any other financial data provided to us.

Website Usage Data: While we may collect anonymous, aggregated data for website improvement (e.g., number of visitors), this data will never be linked to your personal identity or shared with third parties.

No personal information, mobile number, or messaging consent information will be shared with third parties or affiliates for marketing or promotional purposes.

How We Collect Information

We collect information directly from you when you:

Engage our legal services.

Communicate with us via phone, email, mail, or in-person meetings.

Provide documents or information relevant to your case.

Use our website (limited to non-identifiable, aggregated data as noted above).

How We Use Your Information

The information we collect is used solely and exclusively for the following purposes:

To provide you with legal representation and services.

To communicate with you regarding your case.

To fulfill our ethical and professional obligations as a law firm.

For internal administrative purposes necessary to manage your case (e.g., billing).

To comply with legal or regulatory requirements where disclosure is absolutely mandated by law (e.g., a court order), in which case we will take all legally permissible steps to protect your data and inform you if allowable.

Data Security

We implement robust technical, administrative, and physical safeguards to protect your information from unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and destruction. These measures include:

Encryption: All electronic communications and stored data are encrypted where technically feasible and appropriate.

Access Controls: Strict internal protocols limit access to your information to only those attorneys and staff members who require it to provide legal services to you.

Secure Systems: Our computer systems and networks are protected by firewall, VPN, and anti-virus software.

Physical Security: Hard copy documents are stored in secure, restricted-access areas.

Employee Training: All employees receive regular training on data privacy, confidentiality, and our strict no-sharing policy.

Portal - All communications sent through our portal are encrypted end to end. The safest and best way (for clients) to communicate with us is always through the portal. You may also securely upload docs and send photos to the portal with confidence.

Your Rights

You have the right to:

Access Your Information: Request access to the personal information we hold about you.

Correct Your Information: Request that we correct any inaccurate or incomplete information.

Data Portability: Request a copy of your data in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format (where applicable and technically feasible).

To exercise any of these rights, please contact us using the information provided below. We will respond to your request in accordance with applicable laws and our professional obligations.

Changes to This Privacy Policy

We reserve the right to update this Privacy Policy periodically to reflect changes in our practices or legal requirements. Any updates will be posted on our website with a revised effective date. Your continued engagement with our firm after such modifications constitutes your acknowledgment of the updated policy.
