From My Desk...

Passover Seder: 5 minutes or 5 hours?

“.....Research published last month in the journal Developmental Psychology shows that [children] are much more patient than kids were 50 years ago. Yes, you read that correctly. Twenty-first century children are able to wait longer for a reward than children of the same age a generation ago, and a generation before that.....”

This surprising quote comes from the Wall Street Journal of July 11, 2018. It's surprising, because other studies have shown that, as people rely on faster and faster technology, our patience has grown shorter. The State - the independent paper of Stevens Institute of Technology of New Jersey - published an article on November 20, 2020 titled, “How technology is ruining our patience.”

Increasing or decreasing patience? That is the question. It's especially relevant when we think about our Passover Seders. We have what appears to be a conflicting message from our own tradition. Our sages ruled (Pesachim 120a-b), that the Passover meal and afikoman must be finished before midnight, at the latest. That would seem to be a limit on the length of a Seder. Yet, the rabbis praised the people who would expound at length about the story of the Exodus. So, which is it? Watch the clock, or make it an all-nighter?

Sedarim ought to be joyful, and, even better, spiritually refreshing; neither so short that they simply lack any religious depth, nor so long that they become wearying. Sedarim which accomplish both goals take planning.

Here are some tips to help you accomplish these goals.

Review the Haggadah in advance. I can't emphasize this enough. Mark the songs that you'd like to sing. Music always enhances a Seder, and even for those guests who won't sing, a leader who is comfortable singing will encourage people to clap their hands or tap the table in time to the music. I also include simple percussion instruments, like tambourines, to make my Seder more lively. That keeps the enthusiasm level high throughout.

Two or three weeks before the Seder, go online and research new readings and poems that have come out in the last decade to add to your Haggadah. Twenty-first century English is a far cry from the Haggadah English used 50 or 60 years ago. Even if you are using a “traditional” machzor from those days, new readings will kick up the level of interest of all involved.

Patience decreases as hunger increases. Have crudités on the table before you get to Shulchan Orech (The Meal). That makes it less likely that someone will insist you read faster, or skip a dozen pages because he's hungry.

In advance of the holiday, request your guests to each bring to the table one question about any Jewish topic they've wondered about. Ask them to prepare a 1 minute answer that they can present to the participants. If your guests can let you know their topic in advance of the Seder, see if their material fits into a particular part of the Haggadah, and have them present at the appropriate step (remember there are 14 steps to the Seder, so be creative as to where they might speak.) People who help lead the Seder keep their interest level higher, and extend their patience to listen to others who help lead the Seder, as well.

Please feel free to contact me before Passover with any Seder ideas you may have to reduce impatience, and keep the interest high, with your well-run Seder.

Chag Kasher v' same'ach from my home to yours.

Rabbi Seth Sternstein

MECHIRAT CHAMET'Z - PESACH 5784/2024 - SELLING CHAMET'Z

There is a Biblical commandment of removing all leaven from one's home and business during Passover. In order to fulfill this commandment, individuals transfer their Chametz to the Rabbi, who in turn sells it to a non-Jew. At the conclusion of Passover, the Rabbi buys it back for his community. It is also customary to make a donation at this time (referred to as Maot Hittin) to help Jews without sufficient resources for Passover. Kindly complete this form. The Temple must receive it by Friday, April 19th.

PASSOVER MESSAGES

Passover...

This is our last Passover message to our congregation and Alice and I cannot believe how fast these last two years have gone by! We hope that we have helped in some way to make our Temple a spiritual and happy place to be.

This past year the world has continued to show no signs of changing when it comes to hate. Hopefully, when you step into our Temple, you find peace. Passover is a time to remember the triumph the Jewish people had over hate. We are a resilient people who continue to overcome and thrive in this world.

As MLK said, "Darkness cannot drive out darkness, only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate, only love can do that."

From our families to yours, may this Passover be your light.

Diane Finesilver & Alice Franklin, Co-Presidents

Greetings and best wishes for a healthy, happy and kosher Passover. One of the best things about Passover, as with all the Jewish holidays, is the anticipation and preparation for each holiday. Although there may be small changes, nuances really, our meals are based upon tradition, halacha, culture and family.

Last year, we spoke about getting back to normal from the pandemic. This year, we remember that our Jewish normal necessitates vigilance, strength, and compassion. The very reason we celebrate Passover is the commemoration how our existence was threatened by the Egyptians. Our brothers and sisters in Israel continue to live the fallout of October 7th. No, we are not slaves, but we certainly face challenges. "Let my people go" has a new meaning this year.

Sisterhood has an exciting Springtime line up. Beginning in April, our own Marcia Sternstein will lead a monthly Rosh Chodesh group. For women only, we invite our El Emeth membership to an afternoon of Jewish learning and camaraderie. And, on May 21st, our Donor Luncheon honors Terry Roth. Please support Donor and make a reservation for a lovely afternoon.

As always, we want to improve our Sisterhood experience, and invite you to tell us your thoughts on how to enhance our temple experience whether for daily services, for Passover, other holidays, or programming.

Chag Pesach Samaach!

El Emeth Sisterhood Co-Presidents
Debbi Grinstein and Paula Ferguson

Services will be led by our own El Emeth Sisterhood members. If you would like a part in the service, please contact the Temple office at 330-759-1429.

Presently we are celebrating Passover, a time of hardship for the Jewish people in the past. It is also a time to celebrate our liberation from slavery and oppression. Let us be thankful to our learned Rabbis and counselors for keeping this holiday alive and relevant to us now. A contribution to the Torah Fund helps to sustain the education and rigorous preparation required by our learned Rabbis.

Sincerely,
Louise Kline
Torah Fund Chairman

EL EMETH GRADUATES

Parents and grandparents,

If you have a high school or college graduate this year, please make sure we have your information by MAY 15th for the June/July Temple Bulletin.

Please include your graduate's college or work plans after graduation.

Rabbi Sternstein wishes to be in contact with anyone in our congregation who (G-d forbid) is ill. Please call the Rabbi directly, 914-960-4653, and/or the Temple El Emeth office, 330-759-1429, as soon as possible, if you know of someone ill. Please do not assume that someone else has informed the Rabbi or office. Even if we receive multiple calls, it is much preferable to our missing vital information.

We thank you for your help.
