

ST. PAUL'S NEWMAN CENTER

$2.2 MILLION

For 67 years, St. Paul's Newman Center has been the heart of Catholic campus ministry at the University of Wyoming, serving 400-500 students annually. It's more than a place; it's a "home away from home" that nurtures young adults through faith formation and community engagement.

In a time when loneliness affects many, the Newman Center fosters connection through sacraments and fellowship, including "Sunday Supper." Students grow in holiness and discover their vocations through retreats and outreach.

Through the Communion for Mission Campaign, the Newman Center seeks to raise $2.2 million to acquire property for a new facility – one more proximate to the newly located residence halls on campus – or to develop the Newman Center's current property. A change in location would empower the Newman Center to welcome first-year students living on campus at a time when they are most open to forming lifelong beliefs and connections. Join us in investing in the spiritual growth of our students!
