

Spring Capital Campaign Update

Welcome to Spring, a most beautiful time of year in Atlanta, and some important news on our Church Refresh, the final phase of our Capital Campaign project.

A few months ago, we announced that the installation of our new pews, carpet and tile would begin shortly after Ash Wednesday. While we were eager to move forward on that timeline, we encountered an unexpected delay. The fabric selected for the new pews-chosen carefully to complement the new carpet- will not be available until June.

While this is disappointing, we are confident that waiting for the right materials will ensure a final result more pleasing to all. In the meantime, the new carpet has already arrived and is safely in storage, ready for installation once the pews are delivered.

When the pews arrive, all elements of the project will be completed together. At that time, we will also finish the renovation of the working sacristy, including new tile and cabinetry, allowing us to minimize disruption to our normal mass schedule.

During the approximately three-week renovation period, Masses will be held in the gym and/or Marist Hall. More details will follow as the timeline approaches.

We are grateful for your continued support, generosity, and especially your patience as we work to complete this final phase of our Capital Campaign. The results will be well worth the wait, and we look forward to celebrating this renewed sacred space together.
