Tri-Parish News and Note

Elections to the Parish Pastoral and Finance

Councils: In the last week of April, we plan to have nominations and elections to the parish Pastoral and Finance Councils in all the three parishes. It has been long since members have been serving on these councils and some have resigned or unable to participate in the meetings. Please see the following.

PARISH PASTORAL COUNCIL

Scope: The Parish Pastoral Council is a consultative body, over which the pastor presides. Its scope is the parish community as a whole, the total mission of the parish. They establish vision and mission and recommend policies to the pastor, to give direction to the focused goals of the parish.

Members of the parish pastoral council should reflect the diversity: some elected, others appointed, and representatives of various committees or organizations of the parish. Members should have time for regular meetings and be familiar with the pertinent policies of the church (Diocese and Universal Church).

Coordination: The Parish Pastoral Council coordinates the activities of the parish committees and organizations like: Worship and Spiritual life, Evangelization and Catechesis, Social ministry, Administration and Stewardship and works closely with the Parish Finance council.

Nomination: Pray, discern who will best serve the mission of the church in our parish. On the day a nomination paper is given to you, please identify and circle five names for nomination to the Parish Pastoral Council. You may select from existing members or new members. In doing so please remember youth, women, men, seniors, Altura, Wilson. These will be counted and those who secure the highest number of votes will be named as nominees for election. Candidates will be intimidated and if they wish to withdraw may do so.

Election: On the day ballot/election paper is given to you, please identify and circle five names as your vote for election to the Pastoral Council. Top five who score highest number of votes, their names will be announced for the Parish Pastoral council.

PARISH FINANCE COUNCIL

Scope: The Parish Finance Council is an advisory group which aids the pastor in the administration of parish goods and finances. It involves recurring routine matters, annual budget, acts of major importance, acts of extraordinary importance.

Members of the parish finance council should reflect integrity of life, involvement in the parish, knowledge about financial and/or civil law affairs. Members should have time for regular meetings and be familiar with the pertinent policies of the church. Three members are elected and two trustees being appointed by the Bishop's board. Their term is three years and can be reappointed.

Responsibilities: The Parish Finance Council is to communicate and work closely with the Parish Pastoral Council. They are to be familiar with the finances of the parish including income and expenditures, investments and indebtedness, and diocesan obligations; be in compliance with civil laws in parish administration; have long-range financial planning and fund raising; seeing to construction and maintenance of parish buildings and grounds; reviewing cemetery finances; draw up a budget and make periodical report to the parishioners and to the Diocese.

Nomination: Pray, discern who will best serve the work of the Finance Council in our parish. On the day a nomination paper is given to you, please identify and circle three names for nomination to the Parish Finance Council. You may select from existing members or new members. In doing so please remember women, men, seniors. These will be counted and those who secure the highest number of scores will be named as nominees for election. Candidates will be intimidated and if they wish to withdraw may do so.

Election: On the day ballot/election paper is given to you, please identify and circle three names as your vote for election to the Parish Finance Council. The top three who score highest number of votes, their names will be announced for the Pastoral council.

My Dear Parishioners,

Andrew was born with mild Down syndrome. He loved to go to religion class after Mass on Sunday. Nine other children there learned, laughed, and played together. Andrew was not really part of the group. He did not choose to be different; he just was, and his classmates mostly ignored him. On the first Sunday after Easter his teacher arrived with ten plastic eggs. She gave one to each child and they all went outside to find symbols of new life to put into their eggs. They ran around the church grounds in the spring sunshine and brought their treasures back inside. The children gathered around and the teacher opened the first egg: it held a beautiful flower, and they “ooh-ed” and “aah-ed.” She opened another and there was a little butterfly. In the third egg they saw a fresh green leaf. The fourth egg had nothing inside. The children, as eight-year-olds will, said, “That’s stupid! Somebody didn’t do it right.” The teacher felt a tug on her shirt and looked down.

“It’s mine,” Andrew said. The children cried, “You don’t ever do things right, Andrew. There’s nothing there!” “I did so do it right!” said Andrew. “The tomb is empty!” There was sudden silence. From that time on, Andrew became a part of the group. He was set free from the tomb of his difference.

Andrew died last summer of an infection that most children could have quickly shrugged off. At his funeral Mass, nine eight-year-old children, together with their teacher, marched up to the altar, not with flowers to cover over the stark reality of death, but with an empty egg—an empty, old, discarded pantyhose egg—and placed it on the altar steps. The tomb is empty!

What does this story suggest for our living a life of stewardship? Take time to serve someone with physical, emotional, or learning challenges. Teach an adult to read, take someone wheelchair-bound out for a ride, record books for the blind, give parents of a disabled child a “time-out.” Keep smiling.
