Remember: Bishop Barron's sermon.

Invite everyone to come.

Invite everyone to come.

The Tragedy of refusal: Declining the invitation is the ultimate spiritual loss; accepting is the path to Salvation.

Church as the banquet: The Church is the place where this feast is celebrated – the gathering of the invited to share in the joy of Christ's wedding.

From Your Pastor

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Thank you again to all who helped, volunteered and attended St. Rose's 150th Mass and celebration. I was especially grateful to be a part of it even though I have only been here a few months.

I have been in a spiritual direction program the last three years where I have been taking some classes for specific formation to be a trained spiritual director. The program is three weeks per year for three years and I am currently in my final year. Part of the program is a yearly silent retreat, which is actually a requirement for all priests. The program has had its schedule from the beginning of the program, so I realize I have been absent from the parishes recently, but I will be leaving for this retreat on Sunday afternoon, and it will be a full eight-day silent retreat.

On silent retreat, we offer daily Mass, pray multiple holy hours each day, and meet with a spiritual director daily to discuss our prayer. During this time, we do not talk to anyone except our spiritual director and everything (meals, exercise, etc.) is done in silence. We also turn off and avoid all forms of technology in order to attune our hearts and minds to the voice of God.

Silence of the heart is an exceptionally important and needed virtue in our noisy culture. Cardinal Robert Sarah, a great Churchman of our current day, wrote a very impactful book titled, The Power of Silence Against the Dictatorship of Noise. I read it while I was in seminary and it has greatly impacted my spiritual life.

He describes the need for silence especially for priests. Here I quote Cardinal Sarah, "There is a very close connection between silence and fidelity to the Holy Spirit. Without the asceticism of silence, pastors become rather uninteresting men, prisoners of their boring, pathetic torrents of words. Without the life of the Holy Spirit and without silence, a priest's teaching is nothing but confused chatter devoid of substance... If God's spokesmen do not let the Holy Spirit speak in them, they unfailingly change divine grace into mere, despicable human cleverness. The priest is a man of silence. He must always be listening for God. True pastoral and missionary depth can come only from silent prayer. Without silence, the priesthood is ruined."

Silence is indispensable for priests, but we all desperately need silence in our lives in order to hear God speak. It is in the silence of the heart that God speaks. We often probably miss hearing the voice of God, because our lives are filled with noise and distraction. I strongly encourage everyone to spend at least 15-30 minutes a day in silent prayer, attuning our hearts to God.

I will be away on retreat October 18th-October 27th. While I am on retreat, know you will be in my daily prayers. Please pray for me.

Fr. Michael
