LK 14:27

23rd
SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Dear Parishioners,

Sometimes the truth hurts. But we need to hear the truth anyway. Sometimes the truth brings to light the many problems around us. But we need to hear the truth anyway.

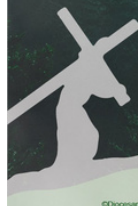

Today, despite the fact that Jesus' words may be hard to hear, in the end, they are true. They are good. And they will help us to lead better and more holy lives. We love when Jesus says nice-sounding things, pleasing to our ears, such as: "I am the Good Shepherd" (John 10:14) or "If anyone is thirsty, let him come to Me and drink" (John 7:37). We like to think of Jesus as making our lives happy, peaceful, and secure. We like to know things will be easy and delightful. But Jesus didn't promise us those things on this side of heaven. In fact, he promised us a share in his Passion!

Today, let's acknowledge that the cross of Jesus brings salvation, and all of our personal crosses are a gift to us. They are our share in the Lord's Passion that has been allotted to us. Here are three reasons why the cross is a gift: first, Jesus' Resurrection reveals to us that after the Passion comes the Resurrection. First the cross, then the glory. The way to heaven leads through Calvary.

Second, in every person's life, there will be suffering. No matter what. The question is what we do about it. Illness and death are coming for everyone. We can get angry about this, or we can accept this. It's our choice: resentment or acceptance. The cross of Jesus helps us to face illness and death with peace. Because of his cross, we have eternal hope. Third, embracing one's cross means to bear the weight of life. It is to bear life's sufferings, turning them into good. By carrying our crosses, we become people who give back to the world more than they take.

Shouldering our cross makes life deeply meaningful. Imagine what the world could be if everyone took up their cross and tried to make their lives and those around them better! This is the Christian calling, and everyone is invited to this Christian way of life.

Sincerely,
Rev. TK

Saint John Chrysostom (c. 344-407) September 13

"Speaking truth to power" may have become just another cliché, but doing precisely that cost John "the Golden Mouth" (Chrysostom) his diocese and, after exile and a forced march, his health and life. "Renowned for eloquence, heroic in suffering" (Sacramentary), John's scriptural insights still comfort and challenge. Mystical theologian, he bids Eastern Christians, whose principal Divine Liturgy bears his name, to lift up their hearts to "God ineffable, beyond comprehension, invisible, beyond understanding, existing forever, always the same." Model pastor, he warns Roman Catholics in the Liturgy of the Hours not to neglect God-in-the-flesh: "Would you honor Christ's body? Do not scorn his nakedness, honoring him here in church with silken robes, while neglecting him cold and naked outside. What use to burden Christ's altar with golden chalices, while Christ himself starves to death? What use dressing the altar with gold-woven cloths, while denying the shivering Christ the clothes he needs? Do not adorn the church while ignoring your needy brother: he is the most precious temple of all!"

Flour Bluff Food Pantry

Food Pantry is in the process of restructuring and will be closed until further notice.

Thank you so much to the St. Paul community for your continued support.

Twenty-third Sunday
in Ordinary Time
Free to Love

St. Paul must have understood today's Gospel very well. Like Jesus, he knew what being a disciple would cost. It landed him in prison. Also like Jesus, he is not afraid to ask others to take that discipleship seriously. And he is not ashamed to ask a favor: Would Philemon accept his runaway slave, Onesimus, back into his home? Not just as a slave, but as a member of his family.

In the Gospel, Jesus talks about the cost of discipleship. Paul takes that a step further—he reminds us to accept that cost freely. He could have ordered his friend to free the slave. Instead of giving an order, he called Philemon to respond to his request freely. Perhaps we can learn from that example.

Like Paul, when Jesus commands us to love one another, he leaves us free to accept that challenge. Remember, he always says, "Love one another, as I have loved you" (John 13:34). Jesus was never compelled to cure anyone or forgive their sins. Yet how often do we go to church because we were told we have to? Do we volunteer for the picnic only because the pastor twists our arm?

We can live life just doing what we have to. Or when Jesus offers us a new motive—love for God because God loves us—we can choose to follow him freely. Let us ask the Spirit to fill us with the freedom to love.

"Whoever does not carry his own cross and come after me cannot be my disciple." Luke 14:27
