THE Most Holy TRINITY

Dear Parishioners,

Easter ended last Sunday with Pentecost, and this week we have returned to Ordinary time.

Today we cap off these first few Ordinary days by going back to the beginning when everything created started, even history itself: to the Most Holy Trinity. We know God has no beginning or end; he even created beginnings when, as the first words of the Bible in Genesis remind us, he said, "let there be light." Even now he is always with us, no matter where we are or what we're doing. Where in prayer we remind ourselves of his presence by making the Sign of the Cross and invoking the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

In today's First Reading, Moses implores the Lord to remain with him and his people no matter how stubborn they have been or will be. The Golden Calf incident has just happened in today's First Reading: the people had made a covenant with the Lord at Sinai and broke it by worshipping a golden calf. Moses, upon coming down from Mt. Sinai and seeing what they'd done, smashed the tablets containing the Ten Commandments (first and only edition) in anger at what the people of Israel had done, rightfully disgusted with them. Moses had the repentant regroup with him to show their return to the Lord, and those who didn't perish. Even then, Moses was unsure whether the Lord would ever be with them again. In today's reading, he goes up the mountain to see the Lord's glory. The Lord promised to take the new tablets he'd made and "reprint" the Ten Commandments again, a sign that the covenant with his people would stand. When Moses beholds the Lord's glory, he sees the Lord for how he truly is: "a merciful and gracious God, slow to anger and rich in kindness and fidelity." He knows neither he nor the people of Israel are entitled to have the Lord be with them, yet he also knows, in faith, that the Lord will remain with him due to his sure goodness and mercy.

In today's Second Reading, Paul expresses the hope that we now express at the beginning of every celebration of the Eucharist: that the Lord remain with us all. In the First Reading, it was through Moses that the people reconciled with the Lord and renewed their willingness to be faithful to the covenant they had struck with him at Mt. Sinai. In every celebration of the Eucharist the celebrant, invoking the Most Holy Trinity, greets the faithful by expressing his desire that the "communion of the Holy Spirit" be with them all, using the same words of Paul: "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all." Along with this communion, we pray for the grace of Christ and the love of God, because we know if those things are not present, neither is the communion of the Holy Spirit. Woven in this desire, we see every Person of the Most Holy Trinity involved: it begins with the love of God the Father, even before creation, it is restored after we've broken it through the grace of God the Son, and it is sustained and fortified through God the Holy Spirit.

In today's Gospel, Our Lord reminds us that God never distances himself from us; we distance ourselves from him. Despite this, he comes in his Son to help us draw close to him again. God is always present to his creatures, including us, in an existential way: he sustains us in existence every moment. If he were ever to stop thinking about us, we'd cease to exist. He never stops thinking about us. We distance ourselves from God in our hearts, and he always tries to close the gap, even though he respects our decision to distance ourselves from him.

The Father sent the Son into the world to reveal to us that we had distanced ourselves from him and to give us a way to close the gap. The Son doesn't condemn us. The distance speaks for itself. Through faith in the Son, we close the gap and enable the Lord to be with us not only existentially but in our hearts.

Sincerely,
Rev.TK

"For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him." John 3:17

Word of Appreciation

Your continued support through out the year helps our parish greatly. Our parish is open seven days a week and serves many people in the area with our prayers and through our Works of Mercy. To those who are homebound, keep us informed of your needs. Your gifts are greatly appreciated.

Thank you and God Bless

God is Calling You

St Paul offers many different opportunities for returning our gifts of time and talent to God. As stewards of God-given skills and abilities, volunteering in a ministry or organization provides a way to thank God, share our faith with others, and enhance our community. Three important ones: Lecturing, Minister of the Eucharist and Homebound Ministries are in need of assistance. If you feel you are being called to one or more of these very satisfying ministries, please contact

Deacon Gary Robinson at (361) 548-4152 or the office at (361) 937-3864 for more information.

SAINT CHARLES LWANGA AND HIS COMPANIONS (martyred 1886-87)
June 3

"Master of Pages," reputedly the handsomest man in all Uganda, Charles Lwanga, lay catechist, courageously led about forty teenaged boys, Catholics and Anglicans, on a forty-mile forced march to martyrdom for their common Christian faith. Teaching each other the hymns of their different churches, they strengthened one another for the ordeal ahead. King Mwanga, himself barely twenty, had ordered them executed for being "those who pray." But these royal pages were the king's male harem, who, now Christians, refused what pious accounts demurely describe as his "unreasonable demands." Some were clubbed to death, most burned alive; the youngest, thirteen-year old Saint Kizito, whom Charles had often shielded from the King's lust; the most tragic, Saint Mbagwa, whose father was his executioner! In 1964, Paul VI canonized the young Catholics and praised their Anglican companions, recalling the heroism of early Christianity's African martyrs, which we modern Christians of far less faith never expected to see repeated. Forty years after the pope's words, what does our faith cost us? Heroism aside, how generous is our response?

The Most Holy Trinity Life, the Universe, and Everything

Why does God love us so much? And why are we able to love others? The answer to these questions is found in the meaning of today's feast. Trinity Sunday celebrates not so much an idea of three-in-one, as the relationship of the Persons of the Trinity with each other and with us. The idea of the Trinity is based on love. But God's love was so great, God went even further. God created us to be loved by God.

Though human love is not perfect, the love of man and woman can produce another person, a child. The three Persons of the Trinity share one life in God. But through baptism we also share in God's life. Just as parents love to see how their children look like them, so God loves to see the divine in us.

Our decision to love is a response to God's love, and our ability to love is itself a gift from God. The meaning of life, the universe, and everything is Love, the love of the Trinity for each other and for us. The question now is, how well do we use that gift of God's love by loving each other?
