Dear Parishioners,

A recurring theme in all of today's readings is the importance of a healthy respect for the Lord. In Biblical language this is usually referred to as "the fear of the Lord," but today's Gospel parable reminds us that fear can rattle us into making bad decisions as well as encourage us to make good ones.

Today's First Reading presents an abbreviated wish list of everything a man should expect from a good wife, but also what is her due. A man entrusts his whole heart to a woman he considers "worthy." She brings good things into his life, not grief. She is industrious and productive with her talents. She is not selfish but helps the poor and needy. She is not focused on vanity, but what the Lord expects of her. Note that it says she "fears the Lord": everything she does is out of respect for the Lord, not just her husband or society. And, as justice demands, she should be rewarded for her praiseworthy works. A good wife has all the characteristics of the fruitful servants in today's Gospel, and this wish list could describe any person we consider good.

In today's Second Reading St. Paul teaches the Thessalonians that if they truly respect the Lord and put that respect into practice, they should have no fear about the day he comes. The Thessalonians are worried about when the Second Coming will occur. Paul tells them it is entirely pointless to worry if they live a holy life. What does the thought of Christ returning in glory today do to you? The only fear it should bring is for the unrepentant sinners who'd face Judgment. It is the guilty who fear discovery and judgment. The guilty hide in a life unillumined by the light of Christ, thinking it provides them cover. The fear of the Lord's judgment can rattle us in the same way, making us scramble for a cover that does not exist, trying to avoid a judgment we know we deserve, all in vain. It's an awareness of the Lord's love and mercy that makes us always respect him and live, without fear, in the light of a holy life pleasing to him.

Today's Gospel is a parable about life. The master in today's parable gives his servants all the capital they need, but he also expects them to use that capital in a way that benefits not only him, but them. Two servants use it wisely, and one, so rattled by a fear of his master, doesn't benefit the master or himself at all and pays the price. We have been given talents, some more, some less, and we're expected to do something with them. We cannot boast about coming up with any of them on our own. It doesn't matter how talented we are; what matters is how we use our talents in the service of God and for the good of others. The successful servants doubled what they'd received; if through our efforts even one more believer stands before Our Lord on Judgment Day, prepared to enter into his master's joy, we'll have accomplished our mission. In the Last Supper, the Lord reminded his disciples that they were to bear fruit as the best way of glorifying the Father (see John 15:2, 4, 5, 8, 16). How do we give the Lord a return on his investment in us? We mustn't let fear be an obstacle to truly serving Our Lord. As the unfortunate servant found out today, he was so rattled about what he thought was his master's expectations that he made the wrong move. He was so culpably foolish that the simple steps he could have taken were far from his thoughts.

Who knows how things would have turned out if he had simply asked his master for suggestions in the first place. We too must ask the Lord to help us unearth our talents and teach us the best way to use them.

Sincerely,
Rev.TK

O GOD, MASTER OF THIS PASSING WORLD, HEAR THE HUMBLE VOICES OF YOUR CHILDREN. THE SEA OF GALILEE OBEYED YOUR ORDER AND RETURNED TO ITS FORMER QUIETUDE. WE LIVE IN THE SHADOW OF THE GULF OF MEXICO, A DANGER OVER WHICH WE HAVE NO CONTROL. O LOVING FATHER, SPARE US FROM STORMS AND HURRICANES THAT THREATEN US AND TURN OUR FEAR OF YOUR POWER INTO PRAISE OF YOUR GOODNESS. Saint Rose Philippine Duchesne (1769-1852) November 18

Pope Benedict once declared himself struck by how remarkably diverse our American saints are—some native born: Mother Seton, Katherine Drexel, Kateri Tekakwitha; most, like many Catholics today, immigrants: Padre Serra, Bishop Neumann, Mother Cabrini, Rose Philippine Duchesne. When the French Revolution that dispersed her convent ended, Rose joined the Religious of the Sacred Heart, volunteering for their United States mission, opening the first free school west of the Mississippi. Only after lengthy service as Superior did Rose —now seventy-one—realize her life's dream, undertaking a mission among the Potawatomi Indians. When some worried about her advanced age and failing health, the Jesuit mission leader overruled them: "She must come! She may not be able to do much work, but she'll bring the mission success by praying for us!" Frustrated by her inability to learn their languages, Rose nevertheless "spoke" to the Native Americans by her prayerful presence before the tabernacle. "Quah-kah-ka-num-ad," they named her, "Woman-Who-Prays-Always"—their way of bestowing the title the Church would later make official: saint!

Thirty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time
Use It or Lose It

I wonder what that third servant in the Gospel was doing all that time, after he buried the talent he was given. Probably nothing. What strikes me is that the word for money in this reading is "talent," which in our language is an ability or skill. Maybe this parable can remind us to use our abilities and not let them go to waste. A person might be strong and fast, but if she exercises and practices, she could be a great athlete. The same with spiritual gifts. Just having one doesn't make you a saint. So how do you know what gifts you have?

First, ask God in your prayers to show you what gifts you have been given. Read the scriptures, especially the Acts of the Apostles or the Letters of Paul (e.g., 1 Corinthians 12:1–11). Listen humbly to friends or loved ones who can tell you what strengths they see in you.

Second, look for ways to use your gifts. Check the parish bulletin or website or your diocesan newspaper for activities and organizations that you could take part in. Hospitals, schools, shelters, and nursing homes frequently offer opportunities for volunteers. Or you may see a need for some service that you can get started in the parish or community.

Just remember that you are called to service by your baptism and confirmation. Don't bury that calling by procrastinating or being afraid to try. Remember the "useless servant" with the one talent who was fearful and lazy (Matthew 25:25–26). At least he can remind us to use it or lose it.
—Tom Schmidt.

St. Paul's Works of Mercy Food Pantry would like to thank everyone for your generous donations and continued support! Because of your kindness, 215 families were blessed with food and assistance. Thank you for helping us serve those in need in our community!
