Dear Parishioners,

We all have, at some point, most likely wondered about heaven. We want to know what heaven is like, and how we will get there. It's part of our human nature. We want to live, and we want to live forever. The idea of life eternal speaks to our hearts.

Jesus knows this well, and made sure to give us a parable about heaven, which we've just read in the Gospel.

The parable states that the reality of heaven is like a king whose son is getting married. The king loves his son and also his future daughter-in-law and thus wishes to host an enormous wedding celebration for them. This is how Jesus talks about heaven!

Weddings are some of the happiest days of our lives. And as such, heaven should be understood as a state of being in which we are very, very happy. The fact that Jesus tells us heaven is like this should make us all very excited to get there. Heaven's an eternal banquet where everyone we love will be together.

But today, Jesus isn't trying to give us details about life inside of heaven. In the parable, he's actually focusing more on our lives just before heaven. He's telling us about a great invitation that God is making to the whole world.

Jesus begins the parable by saying that the King "dispatched his servants" (Matthew 22:2). The king's servants start first with the invited guests, but eventually, they are sent into the whole world to invite everyone.

The meaning of this parable can be understood in light of salvation history. Historically, the first invited guests were the people of Israel. But as many of them would reject Jesus as the Messiah, even after a second wave of invitations was made, the king extends the wedding invitation to the whole world. This means each of us has been personally invited to the wedding.

But there are elements to this parable that we need to bring to our attention today. While it is nice to know that God wants everyone in heaven and that we are all invited, there is more to this parable than just a nice message about salvation. Jesus is making two essential points that most of us here are perhaps not grasping completely about this invitation. First, we are invited, but we also have to do the inviting.

Second, while we are freely invited, we must also put on a wedding garment. Regarding the first, we are the King's servants today! At the end of Matthew's Gospel, Jesus tells his disciples before he ascends into heaven: Go and make disciples of all nations. Matthew 28:19 This became known as the Great Commission and has been a central tenet of Christianity for 2000 years.

And this work of inviting is far from over!

Only about 2 out of 5 people on the planet have a relationship with Jesus. And this needs to move our hearts to take our Christian life-mission seriously! The fact that God wills everyone's salvation is the source of our life-mission. Regarding the second point, the wedding garment which Jesus includes in the parable has been interpreted in a few ways.

The wedding garment can symbolize: Charity: St. Augustine promoted this interpretation. For him, even if we are visibly in the Church, as in, a person who goes to Mass and who helps the poor, if it is not done with love, it means nothing. A Holy Life: St. John Chrysostom interpreted the wedding garment as a holy life. He stresses purity of life and virtuous conduct flowing from faith, not faith as bare intellectual assent. For him, the garment represents the moral transformation that should follow from having accepted the invitation. Baptism: We all received a white robe at baptism. Wearing a wedding garment is a call to keep our sanctifying grace received at baptism unstained until judgment.

In essence, today's parable about heaven is a call to lead a holy and devout life that also shares in the mission of Christ to preach the Gospel message to the ends of the earth.

Sincerely,
Rev. TK

Saint Teresa of Jesus (1515-1582) October 15

Let nothing disturb you; let nothing frighten you. Gifted with a passionate spirit, young Teresa dreamed of converting Muslims and becoming a martyr. All things are passing; God never changes. But her mother's death when Teresa was fourteen inspired lifelong devotion to Our Lady, and Teresa entered the Carmelites, Mary's order, despite her father's objections and her own fragile health. Patience gains everything. Initially, she enjoyed her lax convent's sociability and "busyness," but mystical prayer and John of the Cross' collaboration inspired her to reform the Carmelites. Whoever has God, lacks nothing. When her ideals encountered resistance and brought suffering, she maintained her peace—and humor. Discovered devouring leftovers, she told her mildly scandalized nuns, "When I fast, I fast! When I eat, I eat!" To nuns demanding less work and more prayer in the convent schedule, she retorted: "What we really need around here are fewer starry eyes and more strong arms!" God alone is enough! The italicized sentences here are her "Breviary Bookmark," the simple, profound prayer of Teresa, the first woman Doctor of the Church.

Twenty-eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time Come to the Feast

Why would invited guests refuse to come to a wedding? Free food and drink, music and dancing—what's not to like? By this time, Jesus knew that many of the Jewish leaders would not accept the invitation to follow him. As we know, after the Resurrection the disciples began to spread the good news not only to other Jews, but to anyone who would listen.

One reason the leaders in Israel did not accept Jesus was his association with sinners. They did not understand that God calls sinners to repent and be forgiven. Ordinary people, who knew they were sinners, were attracted by the offer of forgiveness. Many of them repented and came to be baptized. As the parable says, they filled the banquet hall.

So what about the man in the parable who came in street clothes? The wedding garment was a symbol of the baptismal gown, the sign of new life in Christ. So this man symbolizes those who "come to the feast" without repenting of their sins.

We can be like that man sometimes. We come to church, arguing with our spouse on the way. We bring our prejudices, lies, anger, and selfishness—with no intention of doing anything about them. We come with the attitude that says, "I'm here, aren't I? That should be good enough." But it's not. By dying for our sins, Jesus calls us to come back to God. So repentance is not just a change of clothing, it is a change of heart. It is our ticket to the banquet, our way of saying, "I know I don't deserve this, but thanks for letting me share the feast."
