Search and Rescue Units Train in Tyrone, Huntingdon, Bellwood

By JULIE WHITE- Originally published in The Daily Herald newspaper in Tyrone, Pennsylvania

Since 2008, Mike and Dianne Thees of Heaven Scent Search and Rescue in Tyrone have hosted K-9 training events in the local area. Friday, Sept. 11, about 15 different search and rescue teams traveled to Tyrone from Virginia, New York, Indiana, and other parts of Pennsylvania to come together for the weekend and complete training exercises in Tyrone, Huntingdon and Bellwood.

"It's training for the handler and the K-9 so that when an emergency call comes up, they are better prepared," Thees said. "We train anywhere and everywhere because you never know where a search will be."

On Friday morning, alert, focused and determined, 8-year-old K-9 Boaz led handler Mike Thees from Tractor Supply in Tyrone, through the Dollar General property, to Tyrone Ford, and up into the fields and woods beyond. K-9 Boaz didn't stop, sniffing the ground and the air, readjusting his path until he found who he was looking for, signaling that his mission was complete by placing a paw in the lap of volunteer runner Danny Gill.

This find and countless others throughout the weekend were used to hone the dogs' tracking skills to be better prepared for future emergencies in their communities.

Thees told The Daily Herald that unlike electronic aids such as phones and GPS devices, these working dogs don't lose their signal. They don't run out of battery. They lead the way and do not stop until they complete the job. Success is not always a happy ending, but still provides closure for families and loved ones.

Those people are the reason that 26 years ago, Dianne Thees of Heaven Scent began working in search and rescue.

"I like the ability to help somebody. It's being able to help a family to have an outcome, closure," she said.

The dogs will identify their find based on a scent article that is given to them.

"These dogs are actually scent-specific," Mike Thees explained. "Their testimony and their training records will stand good in a court of law. No two people in the world will smell the same to a bloodhound, not even identical twins or triplets."

Thees said that the dogs are not distracted by other scents in the area and do not lose a scent by crossing a stream, unlike sometimes shown on TV. Search and rescue dogs have even found a scuba diver in the water, correctly identifying the correct person in a group of swimmers, Thees said. There have been cases where 100 people are already out searching for someone, and the dogs are not bothered, still following the specific scent to find a lost person. Thees encourages everyone to look as the dogs will not be distracted by others searching.

Mike and Dianne Thees both said that area businesses in Tyrone, Huntingdon, and Bellwood are very supportive, allowing the search and rescue units, including the K-9s, access to their grounds and even inside.

Mike Thees said, "The surrounding area has been so welcoming for all these teams coming in, knowing the value of what they actually do in emergency situations."

"In the training aspect, it's nice to get with other people that have the breed because they understand what's going on," Dianne Thees said. "It's a family... so we all support each other and help each other."

During real emergencies, search and rescue units are called out by the 911 dispatch center or police departments as specialized units to help in a search or a criminal case.

A trainer for the sheriff's department and other units in her area, Terri Heck from York County started working in search and rescue at the same time as Dianne Thees, completing her first search 26 years ago.

Traveling to Tyrone with K-9 Stratton, Heck said, "This is a wonderful weekend for me. Although I am willing to help, I am here to work my dog. Dianne handles it all with a lot of community support. This is a real pleasure for me."

Neal Hoard traveled to Tyrone with K-9 Maudie from Indianapolis, Ind. Hoard said that he and his dog are out searching about once a week, mostly for Alzheimer's and autistic patients.

Hoard said that the searches are always successful, but not necessarily with a happy outcome.

"The dog is successful when it does what it's supposed to do," Hoard said.

Bryan Pardoe from Virginia grew up in Port Matilda and is a member of Blue and Gray Search and Rescue. Pardoe said that in Virginia, the units fall under the Virginia Department of Emergency Management.

"We're called out about once each month," Pardoe said. "No two searches are the same."

During one search, Pardoe said that he got frustrated, because he knew that something wasn't right.

"Not everybody wants to be found. Some people will run from you," Pardoe said.

Don Duvall of Addison, N.Y., was in attendance with K-9 Anna Leigh and K-9 Tiny, a new 1-year-old bloodhound in training. It was a sort of family reunion for his dogs, who are related to K-9 Ziva of Heaven Scent Search and Rescue.

Duvall said that in his experience, people that are found are happy to see the dogs.

"Bloodhounds are gentle, lovable dogs," Duvall said.

For the volunteers of Heaven Scent Search and Rescue and their visiting counterparts, the miles traveled and hours spent tracking provided all with a renewed sense of readiness, ensuring that when a community member goes missing, these K-9 units are well-prepared to bring them home.

The Inspired Word of God

There is so much written in the Bible about all the different situations and emotions that mankind encounters each day. The Bible is, and will always be, the best way for us to learn about living a happy and virtuous life, and receiving salvation in order to spend eternity with our God in Heaven. The Bible has a multitude of different topics that are just as relevant today as they were thousands of years ago. It tells us about love, faith, hope, forgiveness, mercy, pride and almost any other topic you can think of. Not only does the Bible give hope and comfort to the world, it also is the Good News of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. God wants His people to be happy in this world and to be a shining example of His great love. True and lasting happiness is not determined by one's possessions or status in life, but by the relationship and love that they have with our Heavenly Father. The Bible tells us that the joy of the Lord is our strength, and to be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, and faithful in prayer.

*Thy word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path.    R.S.V. Psalm 119:105
