8:30 am - 4:00 pm

Jackson Convention
Complex
Jackson, MS

International trade policy is currently in the news—but understanding the key points of ongoing trade issues is more complicated than a headline.

Issues of International Trade takes an economics-based approach to topics such as comparative advantage, incentives, resources, opportunity costs, and tariffs.

This one day seminar combines lectures with practical classroom activities, giving educators economic reasoning tools to aid student comprehension about current events.

Teachers will be provided:

- ✓ $50 stipend
- ✓ Ticket to lunch at the Forum on American Enterprise ($65 value)
- ✓ Lesson plans
- ✓ Continuing Education Units
