ACCEPTABLE FILE FORMATS

All ads should be saved as high resolution (300 dpi) PDF and emailed to the appropriate ad representative. InDesign PDF/X1a setting is best (the default WebSWOP Coated profile that this will use should produce good color). All files and images must be CMYK or Grayscale. All high-resolution images, artwork and fonts must be included when file is saved as PDF; all spot colors must be converted to CMYK; and process white elements should never be set to overprint.

FILE INFORMATION

When using bleed ads: Keep ALL essential copy 5/8" from trim edge. Book Trim size: 9 1/2" w x 13" h

HARD PROOFS

*N Magazine cannot be held responsible for faithful match of color if proper hard copy proof is not supplied. Optional CD-ROM and hard copy proof labeled with client name and publication date can be mailed to Brian Maranian, Signature Printing, 800 West Cummings Park, Suite 2900, Woburn, MA 01801. For accurate color, supplied Epson proofs should be G-7 qualified by the device that prints them and printed on each one.

PRODUCTION CHARGES

N Magazine does not create ads. Any work performed to make ad materials or to correct, update or otherwise prepare disks for output will result in a production charge. Ads requiring production services are due prior to our deadline date.
N Magazine has joined forces with Flowcode to offer exclusive, custom-designed Flowcodes and Flowpages to connect your print advertising to your digital footprint using the latest in QR technology.

In addition to personalized, multi-color, studio-designed Flowcodes, clients will receive custom reporting on engagement including scan count, scan date, location and time, repeat scanners and more. This level of measurement and attribution will allow clients to better understand their consumers’ patterns and tailor messaging accordingly in future advertising.

Beyond your N Magazine advertisements, Flowcodes are printable for use in signage or mailings with codes offering a ‘dynamic redirect,’ meaning codes can be printed once and then updated on the back end at any time for new scan destinations/landing pages.

Package also includes a custom, mobile-enabled Flowpage that holds all social, video, and favorite links, and tracks exactly what your audience is engaging with online.

The N Magazine x Flowcode package is available as a print buy add-on for a flat digital asset rate of $250 per advertisement.
