Grace Notes

THANKS TO GOD FOR UNFAIRNESS

I often find myself somewhere inside Jesus' parable of the workers in the vineyard. When I feel like I've received better than I deserve, I'm relieved and gratified. When someone else has worked less and unfairly received more, I'm disgruntled and envious. But what if I remove words like "disgruntled", "envious" and "fair" from my personal story, and insert the word "thankful." Can I be thankful to a God who has chosen not to keep score, and instead, has claimed the right to raise EVERYONE from the dead? I just know some are less deserving.

Where gratitude abounds, fear shrinks. They are incompatible roommates. Gratitude takes over the space and shuts out fears of a ledger that doesn't add up (yes, that's good for me). Thankfulness fills us with good courage to confront the true enemies - injustice, cruelty, oppression - and fear itself.

We are in need of snacks for our youth on Wednesdays

We are in need of various snacks for our Faith Adventures and Confirmation students on Wednesdays. We have approximately 43 youth. Pre-packaged items work well, such as crackers, cookies, pudding, animal crackers, yogurt, goldfish, chips, granola bars, mandarin oranges, string cheese, etc. You can drop them off at the church.

Thank You!!!
