

The School establishes instructional and support service salaries individually, based on an employee's job duties, experience, qualifications and performance. The School also reviews salaries for comparable positions in other schools or districts.