

What Happens Next?

The Second Century Commitment is more than a building project.

It is an invitation to steward the legacy we have received and prepare this place for those who will come after us.

In the weeks and months ahead, you will hear stories of worship, community partnership, artistic expression, historic preservation, and future ministry that have shaped Gobin's first century and will guide its second.

Why Now?

For nearly a century, Gobin Memorial Church has stood as a place of worship, hospitality, beauty, service, and community.

As the church approaches its second century, significant restoration opportunities invite us to consider how we will steward this place for future generations.

The Second Century Commitment is a comprehensive effort to restore and renew Gobin Church so that it may continue to bless, inspire, and transform lives for decades to come.
