FRANCIS’ FINAL HOMILY

Pope Francis preached prophetic hope for the last time at Easter Mass less than 24 hours before his death April 21. In his homily, read by Cardinal Angelo Comastri, he spoke movingly of the hope made possible by the Resurrection and how we should respond to it:

Brothers and sisters, this is the greatest hope of our life: We can live this poor, fragile and wounded existence clinging to Christ, because he has conquered death, he conquers our darkness, and he will conquer the shadows of the world, to make us live with him in joy, forever. This is the goal towards which we press on, as the apostle Paul says, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead. Like Mary Magdalene, Peter, and John, we hasten to meet Christ.

The Jubilee invites us to renew the gift of hope within us, to surrender our sufferings and our concerns to hope, to share it with those whom we meet along our journey and to entrust to hope the future of our lives and the destiny of the human family. And so we cannot settle for the fleeting things of this world or give in to sadness; we must run, filled with joy. Let us run towards Jesus, let us rediscover the inestimable grace of being his friends. Let us allow his Word of life and truth to shine in our life. As the great theologian Henri de Lubac said, “It should be enough to understand this: Christianity is Christ. No, truly, there is nothing else but this. In Christ we have everything.” And this “everything” that is the risen Christ opens our life to hope.
