Estimated Private Fees:

Dentistry is not an exact science, therefore all fees are estimated. Clinical findings at the time of treatment may cause estimated fees to alter and planned treatments to change. The practice reserves the right to alter, abort or change treatment as clinical findings dictate, so that at all times the patients' best interests are served. Any changes will of course be discussed with you and your consent obtained before proceeding.

Financial Policy:

It is the Practice Financial Policy that the patient takes care of all charges in full on the day that professional services are provided including consultations. In the case of treatments such as crowns, bridges, root canal treatment and dentures which require more than one appointment, half the estimated fees are paid on the first appointment and the balance upon completion of treatment.
