

Scans and EVOX Descriptions

EVOX short version

EVOX is a healing therapy that uses Biofeedback to help you find the peace, clarity, & transformation you're looking for. Most people see results in just one session.

EVOX

EVOX is a healing therapy that uses Biofeedback to communicate to the software designed for it. This is done through an FDA Approved (Type 2 Medical) device called the Hand Cradle.

The science of Biofeedback, which EVOX is built, has been around for over 30 years. In fact, NASA used it on Astronauts in order to pass a health screening before each space mission. This Biofeedback technology functions similarly to a lie detector test in that it reads skin conductance. However, EVOX is much more sophisticated than a lie detector test. Science advancements in the area of Biofeedback have led to much more sophisticated forms of this cutting-edge technology.

EVOX has you speak into a microphone (headset) about the topic you choose while your hand is on the Hand Cradle. Your body produces natural electrical frequencies as a part of your brain's normal functioning, and those frequencies are picked up by the microphone at the same time the Hand Cradle reads them from your hand.

This process permits EVOX to communicate healthy frequencies back to your body that help you out of the stuck place you have been. Sort of like tuning your piano key to the note of A; you'd hit the A key and tune the piano until it matched the piano tuner. What you are doing, really, is matching frequencies (piano key to note) so that it sounds the same. This is essentially what EVOX does to your body.

For example, let's say you decide to do an EVOX session on depression. You put on the headset (with microphone), place your hand on the Hand Cradle, and begin talking about how you have been feeling down (you can also just say "depression" over and over again; both work). Then calming music begins while the Biofeedback works through the Hand Cradle. This is done until we see (on the software) that you have had a breakthrough!

Balancing Scan short version

(see below)

Balancing Scan

A Balancing Scan is a lot like the Nutritional Scan except that it is much faster and a lot less information. This scan looks at your organs, systems, and emotions to see what is stressed and then asks your body what it wants to use to balance those stressors. It takes approximately 10 minutes and the result is amazing!

Clients have raved about this short but accurate little scan that helped them sleep better that night, relieve stress that was released during their Balancing Scan, and even reports of emotional relief were indicated.

This scan is great in between appointments if you feel stuck, but don't have time to do a full EVOX. The Balancing Scan is also great in between EVOX sessions. During the Balancing Scan session you'll receive emotional Balancers we call Bach Flowers, which focus on where you are now and then helps to bring emotional relief that your body is asking for. It is incredibly personal and specific to you and your body. Give it a try! It's a great way to experience Biofeedback in a jiffy.

Wellness Scan short version

(see below)

Wellness Scan

A Wellness Scan is a lot like the Nutritional Scan except much less information about the stress in your body and more focus on the Balancers that you can purchase.

The Wellness Scan looks at stressors and then asks your body what it wants to balance those stressors using herbs, essential oils, and homeopathics. It takes approximately 15 minutes and what results is a 'right now' solution for products your body is asking for.

Clients love that this scan is fast, much less information, and tells them their top products to purchase. Book your Wellness Scan now and get the remedy your body is asking for!

Nutritional Scan short version

The most detailed health scan we offer that only takes 35 to 45 minutes to scan. Through what the FDA calls a Galvanic Skin Response, a Biofeedback Nutritional Scan uses cutting-edge technology to test what areas in your body may be stressed. Then it scans for possible Balancers to address the indicated stress in your body to help bring your body to a state of balance.

Nutritional Scan

A Nutritional Scan is the most detailed health scan we offer that takes 35 to 45 minutes to scan. Through what the FDA calls a Galvanic Skin Response, a Nutritional Scan uses cutting-edge technology to test what areas in your body may be stressed. Then it scans for possible Balancers to address the indicated stress in your body to help bring your body to a state of balance.

Clients love that this scan is thorough and tells them everything they need to know about what might be going on in their body. If you have gone to several Specialists and still can't figure out why you feel the way you do, then the Nutritional Scan is ideal for you.

Book your Nutritional Scan now and get the information you need take your next steps to a healthier you!