Many people go through life hiding their problems and feelings from the world, their families, and friends. Occasionally, these feelings can lead to serious depression and even thoughts of suicide. If you feel seriously depressed or suicidal, please reach out for help. Talk to a friend, parent, teacher, counselor or religious leader. Or call a suicide prevention hotline.

If someone talks to you about suicide, take it seriously. A friend may tell you about suicidal feelings and ask you to keep it a secret. Being a good friend means that you will not keep this secret. You must tell someone you trust. Also, encourage the person talking about suicide to talk to an adult he or she trusts. Suicide threats are cries for help from people who don't realize that they have other choices.

If you think someone may be suicidal, don't be afraid to ask. Mentioning suicide will not give the person the idea or push them over the edge. Talking about it can prevent it from happening. The period of crisis usually lasts a short time. With help, a person can start to work through the feelings and problems that led to this place.

SUICIDE WARNING SIGNS

27

- Previous suicide attempts or gestures.
- Talking or writing about the desire to end one's life.
- A recent loss of a loved one, particularly someone in the family.
- Giving away personal possessions.
- Abrupt (and subtle) changes in behavior, such as cutting off friendships.
- Change in eating and sleeping patterns.
- Declining school performance, coupled with expressions of helplessness and apathy.
- Family disruptions, such as divorce, or other changes within the home.
- A sudden lifting of sadness, depression, or withdrawal, which may indicate that the decision to commit suicide has been made.
- If you know someone who is talking about suicide, care enough to get help.

Our Mission

The Community Resource EnVision Center is dedicated to bringing hope to people who don't know where to turn by creating one place for those in need to access resources leading to self-sufficiency.

Get Help - EnVision Center

No matter your age or circumstance, we invite you to visit, call, or email. We are eager to help you discover options and available resources. Our gift is bridging the gap between people in need and those who serve.

Get Connected - Volunteer Connect

Join CREC's Volunteer Connect, a central portal for volunteers and non-profits organizations in our community to connect.

Get Informed - Service Provider Information Network

SPIN is where you can connect with other service providers who recognize the power of collaboration and common purpose. Get involved in this community asset and help us improve services to those in need.

Are you experiencing hardship? CREC Can Help

CREC recognizes that we all encounter unexpected and difficult challenges in our lifetime. It can be hard to find and navigate potential solutions.

Through our comprehensive network of local and statewide service providers, found at our EnVision Center, website, or printed directory, CREC compassionately connects people in need of physical, medical, financial, social, or help in time of crisis.

Our staff and trained volunteers strive to create a safe place where someone can email, call or come in and know that we will make every effort to source the right referral match to meet a need.

This Resource Directory is meant to provide a fundamental resource list for those in need. We encourage individuals and service providers to visit us at: crecidaho.com or call for personalized attention at 208-920-1840.

We look forward to serving you by helping open doors to those who are waiting to help you!
