

Becoming a Good Disciple

A core aspect of discipleship involves recognizing God as the ultimate owner of everything, including financial resources. Giving a portion back is a tangible way to acknowledge God's provision and demonstrate faith in his ability to provide.

Financial contributions are one of the ways for disciples to demonstrate their trust in God, exercise faithful stewardship, and cultivate a generous spirit as they journey on the path forged by Christ.

Hebrews 13:16 – “Do not neglect to do good and to share what you have, for such sacrifices are pleasing to God.”

Matthew 6:21 – “For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.”
