STAY AWAKE

The season of Advent is once again here. Advent celebrates the coming of the Lord. Each Sunday of Advent invites us to reflect on a different way Christ comes: in history, in mystery, and in majesty. Today, our focus turns to His coming at the end of time. The readings urge us to prepare. The prophet Isaiah calls us to beat our swords into plowshares and abandon our disputes. While Paul exhorts us to wake from sleep, cast off the deeds of darkness, put on the armor of light, and walk in the Spirit, Jesus commands: “Stay awake! You do not know the day your Master will come.”

The Gospel assures us that the Lord’s return is certain but the timing unknown. What unsettles us most is not the fact of his coming, but its suddenness. Jesus uses an example from Genesis, which describes Noah and the people of his time as being oblivious to the coming of the flood. He also uses the image of the unannounced thief at night to drive his message home. In other words, the coming of the Lord at the end of time will happen suddenly and unexpectedly. His message is clear: unless we are at home in faith and relationship with the Lord, we risk being caught unaware.

Unfortunately, we live in a society saturated with distractions—noise, busyness, and spiritual fatigue. It is easy to drift into inattentiveness, lulled by routine and dulled by indulgence. So how do we prepare to meet Christ, who is coming—and who comes to us in every moment? The readings offer a twofold answer: “Put off” and “Put on.”

We should put off the deeds of darkness. In the Scriptures, darkness is related to evil deeds. So, we are to put off deeds, thoughts, or feelings that keep us in the shadows that are not consistent with our life in Christ. We are to put off sins or habits that burden us as we ascend the mountain of the Lord. We are to put off prejudice which makes us see ourselves and others through dark glasses. We are to put off lies that twist our thinking and destroy our relationship with others. We are to put off past regrets and future worries that keep us from living in the present. We are also to put off carousing, drunkenness, sexual excess, quarreling, and jealousy that cripple and make us spiritually asleep and leave us neither cold nor hot.

On the other hand, we are to put on Jesus Christ and the armor of light. Paul uses the battle gear of the Roman soldier to describe how we can protect ourselves and defeat our spiritual enemy. The defensive weapons (armor of light) we should put on are truth, righteousness, faith, the word of God, peace, and constant prayer (Phil 6:10f). We are also to put on watchfulness and stay awake.

To “stay awake” means to live watchfully – to be alert, discerning, and spiritually engaged. In early Christian language, “sleep” symbolized moral indifference. To be awake is to resist sinful indulgence and remain attentive to the movements of grace.

This First Sunday of Advent, I invite you to draw up a spiritual action plan for the next 27 days. Identify one concrete task for each day in preparation for Christmas. Set aside time daily to speak—and listen—to God. Quiet your heart and wait for His whisper. You may be surprised to discover that He has good things to say. Then you will know: God’s judgment is not a threat, but a promise. It is good news for those who are ready to meet Him when He comes in glory. So, stay awake. Stay faithful. Stay expectant.

PERMANECE DESPIERTO

Ha llegado de nuevo el Adviento. El Adviento celebra la venida del Señor. Cada domingo de Adviento nos invita a reflexionar sobre las distintas maneras en que Cristo viene: en la historia, en el misterio y en la majestad. Hoy, nuestra atención se centra en su venida al final de los tiempos. Las lecturas nos exhortan a prepararnos. El profeta Isaías nos llama a convertir nuestras espadas en arados y a abandonar nuestras disputas. Mientras Pablo nos anima a despertar del letargo, a despojarnos de las obras de las tinieblas, a revestirnos de la armadura de la luz y a caminar en el Espíritu, Jesús nos ordena: «¡Manténganse despiertos! No saben qué día vendrá su Señor». El Evangelio nos asegura que el regreso del Señor es seguro, pero se desconoce el momento. Lo que más nos inquieta no es el hecho de su venida, sino su prontitud. Jesús usa un ejemplo del Génesis, que describe a Noé y a la gente de su tiempo ajenos a la llegada del diluvio. También usa la imagen del ladrón que entra sin avisar en la noche para enfatizar su mensaje. En otras palabras, la venida del Señor al final de los tiempos ocurrirá de forma repentina e inesperada. Su mensaje es claro: si no estamos seguros de nuestra fe y nuestra relación con el Señor, corremos el riesgo de ser sorprendidos desprevenidos. Lamentablemente, vivimos en una sociedad saturada de distracciones: ruido, ajetreo y fatiga espiritual. Es fácil caer en la indiferencia, adormecidos por la rutina y embotados por la indulgencia. Entonces, ¿cómo nos preparamos para encontrarnos con Cristo, que viene y que viene a nosotros en cada momento? Las lecturas ofrecen una doble respuesta: «Despojarse» y «Revestirse». Debemos despojarnos de las obras de las tinieblas. En las Escrituras, las tinieblas se relacionan con las malas acciones. Por lo tanto, debemos despojarnos de las obras, pensamientos o sentimientos que nos mantienen en la oscuridad y que no son coherentes con nuestra vida en Cristo. Debemos despojarnos de los pecados o hábitos que nos agobian mientras ascendemos al monte del Señor. Debemos despojarnos de los prejuicios que nos hacen vernos a nosotros mismos y a los demás con pesimismo. Debemos despojarnos de las mentiras que distorsionan nuestro pensamiento y destruyen nuestras relaciones con los demás. Debemos despojarnos de los remordimientos del pasado y las preocupaciones del futuro que nos impiden vivir el presente. También debemos despojarnos de la juerga, la embriaguez, el exceso sexual, las riñas y los celos que nos paralizan y nos adormecen espiritualmente, dejándonos en un estado de inconsciencia. Por otro lado, debemos revestirnos de Jesucristo y de la armadura de luz. Pablo utiliza la armadura del soldado romano para describir cómo podemos protegernos y vencer a nuestro enemigo espiritual. Las armas defensivas (la armadura de luz) que debemos usar son la verdad, la justicia, la fe, la palabra de Dios, la paz y la oración constante (Filipenses 6:10-11). También debemos mantenernos vigilantes y despiertos. Estar «vigilante» significa vivir con atención plena: estar alerta, discernir y participar activamente en la vida espiritual. En el lenguaje del cristianismo primitivo, «dormir» simbolizaba la indiferencia moral. Estar despierto implica resistir la tentación del pecado y permanecer atento a la acción de la gracia. Este primer domingo de Adviento, te invito a elaborar un plan de acción espiritual para los próximos 27 días. Identifica una tarea concreta para cada día en preparación para la Navidad. Dedicar tiempo diariamente a hablar con Dios y a escucharlo. Aquietar tu corazón y espera su voz. Quizás te sorprendas al descubrir que tiene buenas cosas que decirte. Entonces comprenderás que el juicio de Dios no es una amenaza, sino una promesa. Son buenas noticias para quienes están preparados para recibirlo cuando regrese en gloria.

Así que, mantente alerta. Mantente fiel. Mantente expectante.
