Cash or checks only!

Today's Topic: Five Tips for More Successful Sewing

- Interfacing is an addition that REALLY makes a difference
- Pressing brings perfection to your projects
- Use proper pins and needles too
- Make your mark . . . picking the best marker for the fabric and the task
- Put your best foot forward - various presser feet fix many issues

Interfacings:

- Pellon SK135 - Fusible tricot with minimal stretch crosswise and no stretch lengthwise.
- Pellon EK130 – Fusible, standard weight tricot.
- Pellon 460 - Very lightweight knit stabilizer with multi-directional stretch.
- Pellon 950F ShirTailor - Medium weight non-woven firm stabilizer for woven fabrics.
- Pellon 860F Ultra Weft - Weft style insertion makes it more flexible, adding body without being too stiff.
- Pellon 987F - Fusible fleece.
- Pellon 810 Tru-Grid with 1-inch grid markings.

Pressing:

Must have tools in my sewing space include a professional steam iron, a spray bottle with water, Mary Ellen's Best Press, Downy Wrinkle Releaser, and a "tailor's clapper." CLICK HERE to read a post on pressing.

Pins:

My favorite pins include glass head, flat flower (lace pins), ball point, and glass head. CLICK HERE to check out this pin post.

Needles:

Schmetz Needles resource page - CLICK HERE. Always have a selection of multiple styles on hand. CLICK HERE to read a post on the foremost needle expert and each a video interview with Rhonda Pierce

Markers:

Gotta love the wash out and air erasable markers! Clover Chaco Liner and good old fashioned tailor tacks are part of my repertoire too!

Presser Feet:

Lets start with an Even Feed foot, Straight Stitch Foot (plus ZZ foot with settings for seams), Edge Joining, and Adjustable Blind Hem
