Returning to Nottingham Comedy Festival for the third year, LOL-gbtq+ at The Lord Roberts is a series of LGBTQ+ comedy, cabaret and variety nights, showcasing the depth and diversity of Queer comedy talent across the region.

Following sell-out runs in 2024, Juliette Burton (BBC1/ITV) and Cerys Bradley (Comedy Central, UKTV, BBC One Wales) premier new work. Nottingham's Drag scene is represented by local Drag Royalty Nana Arthole, and making her Nottingham Comedy Festival debut, AFAB Queen 'Boo'. Rounding off the festival, the Nottingham Queer Arts Collective present their annual cabaret fundraiser raising money for The Spencer Trust.

Promoter Dan Webber says "Nottingham has a fantastic Queer arts scene and it's always a joy to present this as part of Nottingham Comedy Festival. LOL-gbtq+ at The Lord Roberts provides a brave space where audiences and performers can be themselves and present their work in a safe and nurturing environment, there's no punching down just laugh out loud queer comedy where everyone is welcome".

LOL-gbtq+ opens on Saturday 1st November at The Lord Roberts on Broad Street, full details can be found on the Nottingham Comedy Festival website.

<https://www.nottinghamcomedyfestival.co.uk/>

Also at the Lord Roberts and included here is "Queerdom", which is in addition to the acts promoted by Dan.

Welcome to Queerdom where people aren't like other people. Join West End New Act of the Year finalists, Nicky Vere-Compton and Marigold Lately in a neurospicy queer hour of anarchy, chaos, mayhem and misrule!

October 31st, 8pm (doors open 7.40pm)

Nottingham Queer Arts Collective's mission is to bring together LGBTQIA+ artists of all disciplines from in and around Nottingham to appreciate, liberate, and support our community and art. We are back at LOL-gbtq+ at The Lord Roberts with an evening of comedy, cabaret and variety, raising vital funds for Nottingham Queer Arts Collective and The Spencer Trust. Pay What You Feel, all welcome.

November 9th 6pm (doors open 5.40)

Juliette Burton. Join the joy of Juliette! Get in the party spirit with award-winning comedian Juliette Burton as she brings the best bits from her multiple award-winning comedy shows. Robert Hamberger

Nude Against A Rock

Self-Portrait as a Banana

Hongwei Bao

Nude Against A Rock, Robert Hamberger's exciting fifth collection, is a love song for the threatened world. There is a thematic widening of the lens that connects intimacy, home and family to other countries, porous borders.

The collection culminates in a passionate sequence after the gay British painter Keith Vaughan, where the male 'body of contradictions' is a site of desire and tenderness, landscape becomes a haven, and the artist is compelled to observe, create and bear witness.

We welcome back Robert Hamberger, an old friend of Five Leaves (which published some of his earlier work) for a reading from his latest collection.

The evening will also include readings by Hongwei Bao, from his new collection, Self Portrait as a Banana, a candid exploration of his queer, diasporic, East Asian identity and trans-cultural intimacy.

Appropriating, subverting and queering cultural tropes like the banana, rice and beckoning cat, and identity categories, such as queerness and Chineseness, this is a powerful journey.

A bold, humorous and refreshing celebration of queer desire, identity and cultural differences.
