

Flow Automotive in Charlottesville Teams Up with UVA Athletics and the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA to Support Local Animals in Need

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA (May 7, 2025)— Flow Automotive in Charlottesville, in partnership with UVA Athletics and the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA (CASPCA), is proud to present a Community Donation & Adoption Event on Sunday, May 11, at Disharoon Park during the Virginia Baseball game against Miami.

The CASPCA will be on-site at the Right Field Plaza starting at 11:30AM with adoptable animals and a donation station collecting much-needed supplies for the shelter. Fans who bring donations will receive free giveaways from Flow Automotive, including clear cinch bags, pet bandanas, and foam bats, while supplies last.

“This is one of our favorite community collaborations of the year,” said Laura Renigar, Marketing Partnerships Coordinator at Flow Automotive Charlottesville. “We’re calling on everyone in Charlottesville to help make this our biggest donation year yet, whether by dropping off items at any of our 12 locations throughout May or joining us in person on game day.”

The CASPCA is collecting pet food, kitten formula, blankets, toys, and other essential items to support homeless animals and families in the community.

“We are incredibly grateful to Flow Automotive and UVA Athletics for championing this initiative,” said Sara Stone, Director of Advancement at the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA. “It’s inspiring to see the community rally around our mission. Every item donated helps us provide care and comfort to the animals who need it most.”

In addition to Sunday’s in-person event, donation bins are available throughout the month of May at all 12 Flow Automotive Charlottesville locations. A full wish list of needed items is available via QR code at the game and online at CASPCA.org/DonateSupplies.

“This partnership is a perfect example of the power of sports and service coming together,” said Jacob Wawro, Director of Partnership Services at Virginia Sports Properties. “We’re honored to work with organizations that are so deeply committed to making a local impact.”
