

The Master's Song

Verse 1.-Solo:

This world is so hard and so stony; That if a man is to get through,
He'd need have the courage of Nelson, And plenty of Job's patience too.
But a man who is kind to another, And cheerfully helps him along,
God Bless such a man and a brother, And here's to his health in a song.
And here's to his health, here's to his health, and here's to his health in a song.

All sing Chorus:

And here's to his health, here's to his health, and here's to his health in a song.

Verse 2.-Solo:

This life is as cheerless as Winter, To those who are cold in the heart;
but a man who is warm in his nature, Bids Winter for ever depart
The ground that he treads on will blossom, 'Till beauty around him shall throng;
God Bless such a man and a brother, And here's to his health in a song.
And here's to his health; here's to his health, and here's to his health in a song.

All sing Chorus

And here's to his health, here's to his health, and here's to his health in a song.

Verse 3.-Solo:

As clouds that in sunshine are open, And silvered by light passing through;
So men who are generous in spirit, Are blessed by the good deeds they do;
There's nothing like helping another, For getting one's own self along;
Who does this is truly a brother. And here's to his health in a song.
And here's to his health; here's to his health, and here's to his health in a song.

All standing sing chorus

And here's to his health, here's to his health, and here's to his health in a song.
