PART B. ISSUE:

A potential buyer of the former Lincoln College property has requested a zoning change to the involved parcels, to allow for the intended use, if purchased.

The parcels lie within an R-2 zoning district and thereby limits what uses may be available if a sale were to be realized.

PART C. ANALYSIS:

The attached site plans show the parcels in question. While pursuing the sale of this property the current owners (Lincoln College) have found that due to the size of the grounds as well as the quantity of structures, the sale has been deemed "too large" by potential buyers. While some buildings are sought after for use, the totality of the property is not always deemed necessary.

The applicant intends on acquiring the entire property. An initial income investment will come in the form of renovating the existing dormitories into apartments, for public rental.

As noted, there is considerable interest in the use of many of the remaining buildings. In the event of property purchase, the owner would then begin leasing out individual properties to businesses for use. Purchase would be the entirety of the property under one owner and would lend towards a more complete and cohesive management and maintenance concept.

PART D. STAFF OPINION:

With the ongoing vacancy of these expansive grounds the City of Lincoln will unfortunately soon see the overall dilapidation of these properties. Approval of a rezone of this property will provide an opportunity to not only utilize the property but revitalize the area and allow for new opportunities for community growth. Staff opinion is to allow for the rezoning of said parcels to the requested C-2 designation.
