Automatic Drink Dispenser

An automatic drink dispenser is a device designed to automatically serve beverages without having to pick up a container. The device has a silicone top with an attached straw that is inserted into the container. The silicone top can stretch to fit around most container openings. After the device is securely attached to the container, simply use a cup/bottle to push the button and the liquid will pour out of the spout into the cup. This dispenser is user friendly and easy to install or remove. It also has a lock/unlock switch to prevent accidental spilling.
