Recordable Buttons

Recordable buttons are simple assistive communication devices that allow users to record and play back short voice messages at the press of a button. Typically battery-operated and easy to use, they feature a large, colorful surface that can be pressed to play a pre-recorded message. Users can customize the recording for a variety of purposes, such as supporting communication for individuals with speech difficulties, providing step-by-step task reminders, creating interactive learning activities, or adding prompts for routines.
