North Carolina Association of Free and Charitable Clinics just announced that in Guilford County...

 Mustard Seed Community Health (MSCH) had close to THREE MILLION DOLLARS in estimated Emergency Department Savings in one year!

Emergency rooms play a critical role in providing care for individuals with life-threatening conditions or injuries. However, they are not designed to serve as primary care facilities, and the cost of care in an emergency room far exceeds that of a typical primary care visit. The average patient charge to be seen by a physician in a hospital emergency department in NC is $4,915.00.

This cost disparity is especially pronounced for uninsured individuals who are not aware of MSCH, do not have access to regular healthcare services and may delay seeking treatment until their condition becomes severe, necessitating emergency intervention.

The economic impact of MSCH extends beyond the direct savings from reduced emergency room visits. By promoting health and wellness in the community, MSCH is not just a healthcare provider, but a beacon of hope, increasing workforce productivity, reducing absenteeism, and lowering healthcare costs for employers. Also, MSCH alleviates the burden on emergency rooms, allowing hospitals to allocate resources more efficiently and focus on critical care for patients with urgent medical needs.

The work of Mustard Seed Community Health represents a win-win solution for Guilford County, providing essential healthcare services to vulnerable populations while saving money and improving efficiency within the healthcare system. By investing in MSCH and prioritizing preventive care, our community can ensure that all individuals have access to the care they need to live healthy, productive lives, regardless of their insurance status. As we continue to navigate the complexities of healthcare reform, the urgent need to support and expand the work of MSCH should be a cornerstone of our efforts to build a more equitable and cost-effective healthcare system for all.
