In addition to native fluency in Spanish, Fr. Walsh is conversationally fluent in Italian and French, and “gets by” in German and Portuguese. He also reads Latin, Classical Greek and Biblical Hebrew, and put his multilingual skills to good use when he earned a License in Sacred Theology with a concentration in Biblical Theology from the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome in 2016, graduating Magna Cum Laude. After finishing his studies, he returned to the Arlington Diocese in 2016 to serve as Pastor of Precious Blood Parish until the present. He enjoys studying Modern Hebrew that he uses on pilgrimages to the Holy Land as well as modern Greek for a pilgrimage in the footsteps of Saint Paul.

He taught Scripture to candidates for the permanent diaconate from 2017 to 2024. He has taught several courses over the years in Spanish at the Instituto de Formación Pastoral of the Arlington Diocese. He also was the presenter of the Convocation of Permanent Deacons of the Diocese of Norwich in 2019. Since 2021 he has served as Dean of Deanery IV and as representative of his deanery on the Presbyteral Council where he was elected as Vice Chairman.

On his free time, Fr. Walsh likes to bike, swim or visit the families of one of his 35 godchildren.
