Women of Distinction

Jill Frey is deeply committed to WBEC ORV, WBENC, and being an advocate for others in the WBE community. As CEO of a second-generation family business, she is a champion of supplier inclusion and actively seeks partnerships with fellow WBEs.

She is the WBENC Forum Domestic Team 2nd Vice Chair, WBEC ORV Board Member and a WBE Liaison for the ORV Corporate Engagement Committee. Jill was also recognized as the 2025 WBEC ORV Trailblazer for her various official and unofficial volunteer roles in the network. Outside of ORV, Jill was recently recognized as one of the Top 50 Women Chief Executive Officers of 2026 by Women We Admire.

To know Jill is to know she is a Woman of Distinction. Her commitment to our work is not symbolic - it is lived. Through her leadership, service, mentorship and advocacy, she embodies the mission of advancing and empowering women-owned businesses at every level. One of her most meaningful contributions is how she actively creates access. She is intentional about giving other WBEs their first chance - whether that means inviting them to bid, connecting them with decision makers, or championing their capabilities in rooms where they may not yet have a voice.

Within her company, Jill is known for her people-first approach. She empowers her team to think creatively, solve problems boldly and take ownership of their work. She views leadership as a service - lifting others, creating pathways for growth, and ensuring every team member feels connected to the mission and their impact.
