The second line of the first stanza shows that this hymn is meant for use in the context of the Lord's Supper, but the last stanza further clarifies its special purpose as a sending hymn celebrating the values guiding the work of the church in the world: service, courage, mercy.

The Lord's Supper

Invitation to the Lord's Table

Great Prayer of Thanksgiving and Our Lord's Prayer

The Lord be with you.

And also with you.

Lift up your hearts.

We lift them to the Lord.

Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.

It is right to give our thanks and praise.

Holy God, Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth, with joy we praise you and give thanks to your name. You raised up Christ to rule over all creation, giving him the name which is above all other names, that at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow.

We praise you that, lifted in power, he lives and reigns forever in your glory and so fulfills his promise to be with us always to the end of time. Gracious and merciful are your ways, Lord God almighty. Your holiness sanctifies all your children.

Therefore, we lift our hearts in joyful praise, joining our voices with choirs of angels, and with all the faithful of every time and place, who forever sing to your name:

Holy God, we are overwhelmed by the depth of your love for us made known in your Son. For Jesus showed just how beloved we are, by loving us and giving himself for us. He washed his disciples' feet and told us, 'I am among you as one who serves.'

God of the past and present, we remember your Son. We thank you for his saving life and death and resurrection, we take courage from his ascension; we look for his coming in glory and in him we give ourselves to you.

Send your Holy Spirit, that we who receive Christ's body may indeed be the body of Christ, and we who share in his cup draw strength from the one true vine.

Praise, glory and love be yours, this and every day, in this place and in every place. We pray you receive the prayer Jesus taught us:

The Lord's Prayer

Our Father who art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come, thy will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread;

And forgive us our debts,

As we forgive our debtors;

And lead us not into temptation,

But deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom

And the power

And the glory, forever.

Amen

3. Take a mental health day. Feeling stress is understandable, but if it begins to overtake your everyday life and relationships, it may be time to step back. Take time for yourself, care for yourself. Go for a walk, read a book with a favorite cup of tea, work a jigsaw puzzle. Make caring for yourself a priority.
4. Find a way to help others. If a Mental Health First Aid course is offered in your community, sign up! We've all taken a first aid course at some time in our lives, but what about mental health first aid? It is just as important. When a class is offered near you, attend. You may be surprised by what you learn, and your ability to help those you love. I'm hoping to get the #5 email by noon tomorrow, and will send it along. This will be a work in progress this week, but hopefully all to you by late Wednesday!
5. Talk about mental wellbeing. Given the challenges of recent years, two out of five adults report symptoms of anxiety or depression. Having a conversation about your mental wellbeing may seem awkward at first, but speaking to someone you know well can help reduce stress and improve your mood. The next time you say to someone "Hello, how are you?", ask it sincerely and be willing to listen. The conversation may help you too!
