• Overview

The Black Physicians & Healthcare Network (BPHN), a program of the National Center for Children and Families (NCCF), is seeking proposals from qualified community-based organizations, faith-based organizations, healthcare providers, advocacy groups, educational institutions, and other trusted community entities to serve as Outreach and Education Partners for Fiscal Year 2027.

BPHN advances health equity by connecting Black residents in Montgomery County, Maryland to culturally responsive medical, dental, behavioral health, and social support services. Through this RFP, BPHN seeks partners who can provide culturally relevant outreach, education, engagement, and referral activities that improve health literacy, reduce barriers to care, and strengthen community trust.

The Outreach and Education Partnerships are designed to expand BPHN's ability to reach Black residents across Montgomery County through grassroots engagement, trusted messengers, neighborhood-based programming, and targeted health education initiatives.

• Organizational Background

BPHN was established to address longstanding health disparities affecting Black residents in Montgomery County. BPHN serves as a trusted connector between community members and culturally concordant healthcare providers while supporting health education, navigation, referrals, and coordinated community engagement.

BPHN has built a coalition of over 100 community organizations, healthcare providers, advocates, and stakeholders committed to improving health outcomes for Black communities.

Recent accomplishments include:

- Serving more than 2,100 clients annually through healthcare linkages and care
- Facilitating over 3,600 referrals to healthcare and supportive services
- Hosting community health fairs and wellness events throughout Montgomery County
- Conducting community conversations focused on behavioral health, maternal health, chronic disease prevention, and health literacy
- Expanding outreach through social media, schools, faith institutions, recreation centers, and neighborhood-based partnerships
- Launching targeted initiatives including maternal health outreach, youth engagement, HIV/STI education, and behavioral health awareness campaigns

BPHN's approach centers on culturally responsive engagement, trusted community relationships, and data-informed strategies that improve access to care nearly 100,000 Montgomery County residents.

• Purpose of the RFP

The purpose of this RFP is to identify and fund organizations that can support BPHN's outreach and education efforts by:

- Increasing awareness of available healthcare, behavioral health, dental, and social support services
- Improving health literacy within Black communities
- Connecting residents to culturally responsive healthcare providers and resources
- Reducing barriers to care through trusted community engagement
- Supporting prevention, early intervention, and wellness initiatives
- Promoting community participation in BPHN programs and events
- Providing targeted outreach to underserved and priority populations

Selected partners will work collaboratively with BPHN to implement community-based outreach and education strategies aligned with BPHN's mission and FY2027 priorities.
