WHY CARRYMATE PORTMAN?

The Glass Racking Company supplies CarryMate Portman's to address the need for a safer and easier way to lift and position door and window joinery (glazed and unglazed) both within a factory and while on-site.

Doors and window frames are awkward to grip and lift. Often these items need to be lifted, held, then offered into position for securing. The CarryMate Portman allows a single person to lift and position an item into place using a single foot control, leaving both hands free for securing.

All lifting is done using the operators body weight rather than muscles and effort. This means that fatigue and the risk of injury is reduced.

The CarryMate Portman has an integrated tilt compensating lever (like a scissor mechanism) which means that the lifting surface of the CarryMate Portman is always kept level. This holds the product safely throughout the lift and positioning process.

The CarryMate Portman has a swivelling mechanism which assists with the positioning of the item.

The CarryMate Portman XL is rated to lift a 120kg item.
