Dear Parishioners,

Our first reading from the Prophet Isaiah instructs the people about right living. Righteousness consist of not just obeying the law, but in generosity to the poor and the less fortunate. Isaiah quotes God who said, "Share your bread with the hungry, shelter the oppressed and the homeless, clothe the naked when you see them, and do not turn your back on your own (Is. 58:7)". Ideals for living the good life from God include caring for the poor and for your own people. These ideals are not opposed to one another but are in harmony with each other. The more we care for the needy and the poor, the more we take care of our own family and neighbors. May God guide us in knowing the true needs of others and in working to show signs of God's kingdom on earth through compassion and generosity.

Jesus in the Gospel tells his disciples (us) that we "are the light of the world and the salt of the earth." He goes on to say, that our light must shine through our good deeds. May our works of mercy show others the way of Christ. May good deeds abound in our Church and in the community. May the People of God be known for their generosity and faith.

Peace,

Fr. Jeff
