- The offices are accessible by an elevator that reaches the floor directly, and it is possible to enter the door with a wheelchair.

Website accessibility

An accessible website is a website that allows persons with disabilities and seniors to use it on the same level of efficiency and enjoyment as all other visitors. Approximately 20%-25% of the population face difficulties in using the internet and could benefit from more accessible internet content, according to a study conducted by Microsoft in 2003.

We at Agmon with Tulchinsky are working to ensure equal opportunities on the internet for people with diverse disabilities and people who use assistive computer technology.

Information on the Website's accessibility

- This Website is in compliance with the requirements of the Equal Rights for Persons with Disabilities (Service Accessibility Adjustments) Regulations, 5773-2013.
- The accessibility adjustments were performed according to the recommendations of the Israeli standard (SI 5568) for internet content accessibility on the AA level and the international 0 guidelines.
- The tests were examined for the best possible compatibility with the Chrome browser.

- The website provides a semantic structure for assistive technologies and support for the customary usage pattern for operation by keyboard using the arrow keys, Enter and Esc for exiting menus and windows.
- It is compatible with display on commonly used browsers and for use on mobile devices.
- For the optimal user experience with screen-reading software, we recommend using the most up-to-date version of the NVDA software.
- Documents or videos that were uploaded to the website before October 2017 may not be fully accessible. In case you encounter such a document or video, you may contact our accessibility coordinator, and we will ensure that it is made accessible.
- Delivery of information in an accessible format – it is possible to receive information in accessible formats. The delivery of information is intended for people with disabilities. For inquiries and information on accessibility, contact the company's accessibility coordinator whose details appear at the bottom of this declaration.
- The website is regularly examined to ensure the website's accessibility is maintained.

Contact options for requests and suggestions for improvement in the field of accessibility

Note that we are constantly striving to improve the company's accessibility as part of our commitment to allow the population as a whole, including people with disabilities, to receive the most accessible level of service.

In case you run into any accessibility problem or malfunction, we would appreciate it if you inform us so that we can make every effort to find a suitable solution for you and resolve the malfunction as soon as possible.
