

100% Traceability forever

Traceability as standard for commercial, COTS & release components

It doesn't matter whether you are working on a new design, or keeping legacy equipment fully operational, Charcroft's guaranteed traceability will ensure that each component's batch and lot numbers will be archived and searchable whenever you want them.

Charcroft's vast historical Documentation Archive already holds copies of every Certificate of Conformity and Conformance (CofC) and every delivery note received since 1985. And the documentation for orders shipped today will be archived and searchable at any time in the future. This level of traceability not only helps to support extended product lifetimes, but also meets the proposed legislation which aims to prevent counterfeiting worldwide.

100% traceability, free of charge, is part of Charcroft's standard service.

- Existing processes meet proposed legislation
- Automatic document retention introduced in 1985
- All delivery notes & CofCs archived and retained
- Release documents automatically sent with CECC components
