

Lewis Charlton

Charcroft Product and Application Specialist & rock climber

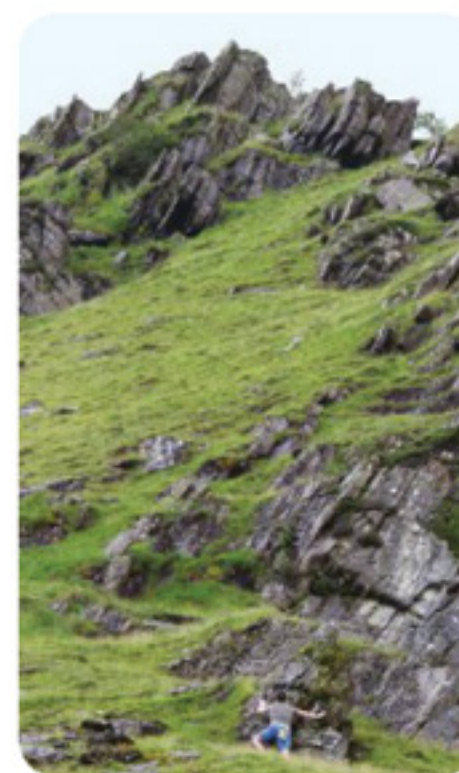

Lewis Charlton is as passionate about helping customers to source passive components as he is about rock climbing in the Cambrian hills around Charcroft's offices.

As Product and Application

Specialist within Charcroft's sales team, Lewis helps buyers to source passives through one of the industry's widest passives linecards. He can match component qualifications to industrial, COTS, Mil-spec or space-qualified applications; cross-reference passives from different manufacturers; track down passives simply from a product description or NATO number; or find replacements for obsolete parts.

To see how Lewis's specialist knowledge could help to simplify passives procurement, call him on 01591 612242, or email him on lewis.charlton@charcroft.com
