

100% Traceability since 1985

30-year document retention for all customers as standard

Charcroft's vast historical Documentation Archive holds copies of every Certificate of Conformity and Conformance (CofC) and every delivery note received since 1985. This means that Charcroft's customers have full traceability back to the manufacturer, complete with batch numbers and date codes for all historical, current and future orders.

Charcroft's 30-year data-retention policy also means that essential documentation on products shipped today, will still be available until 2044. So whilst other distributors face the upheaval of tightening their systems to meet proposed anti-counterfeiting legislation, Charcroft just needs to continue to provide 100% traceability, free of charge, as part of our standard service for every customer.

- 30-year document retention introduced in 1985
- Automatic archiving of all delivery notes & CofCs
- CECC release automatically included with shipment
- Existing processes already meet proposed legislation
