WELCOME TO ST STEPHEN WALBROOK

Nestled in the heart of the bustling City of London lies a hidden treasure steeped in history, the church of St Stephen Walbrook. Revered as a “Place of Celebration” since Roman times, although its location and design have evolved over the centuries, the essence of this iconic venue has remained unchanged since Sir Christopher Wren’s masterful reconstruction after the Great Fire of London.

Today, St Stephen Walbrook continues to unite the community of the Square Mile through regular events, including weekly congregations and services, concerts, recitals, as well as exclusive venue hire opportunities. With its neoclassical architecture, hailed as the “pride of English architecture” by Sir John Summerson, and Wren’s domed ceiling taking centre stage, this spectacular space offers an unparalleled setting for unforgettable moments. Imagine hosting an intimate dinner under the magnificent dome or a dazzling drinks reception around Henry Moore’s circular altar.

‘WHEN THE LIGHT HITS THE HENRY MOORE ALTAR THE EFFECT IS QUITE MAGICAL. IT IS HERE THAT WREN FORGES A VITAL LINK BETWEEN SCIENCE AND ARCHITECTURE.’

Amanda Leveté, The Times

By choosing to exclusively hire St Stephen Walbrook for your event, not only will you be supporting the preservation of this historic building, but you'll also be helping to ensure that this free-to-access ministry can continue to serve the community now and for generations to come.

At St Stephen Walbrook, our team is committed to providing bespoke experiences for your most significant occasions, be it a corporate function or a private celebration. Explore the opportunities that await you and your guests in the pages to come, and let us bring your vision to life. We look forward to the privilege of serving you.

THE HISTORY OF ST STEPHEN WALBROOK

ROMAN TEMPLE

A temple of Mithras stood on the bank of the Walbrook, a stream which brought life to the area. Roman soldiers worshipped here and also built a series of baths.

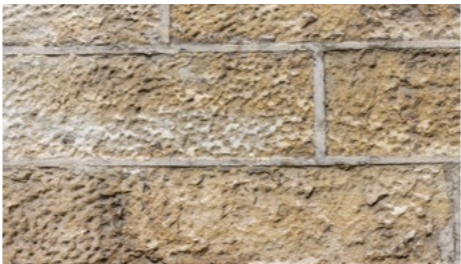

2ND CENTURY - 410AD

THE GREAT FIRE OF LONDON

The Great Fire of London began and within 24 hours, St Stephen Walbrook was burnt to the ground. Over three quarters of the City of London was destroyed and King Charles II appointed a commission to plan rebuilding the City.

2ND SEPTEMBER 1666

BUILDING WORK BEGINS

St Stephen Walbrook began to be rebuilt, Wren's own parish church, he lived at No.15 Walbrook. It cost £7,672, a large amount of money at the time.

1672

CELEBRATION DINNER

The Vestry planned a dinner for the architect, masons and joiners, as the Church was ready for use.

27TH MAY 1679

THE SAMARITANS

The Samaritans is founded at St Stephen Walbrook by a young vicar called Chad Varah. The first call to the new service was made on 2nd November 1953 and this date is recognised as Samaritans' official birthday. There are now over 200 branches across the UK and Republic of Ireland. The actual telephone is still on display at St Stephen Walbrook.

1953

A NEW COURTYARD

Lanning Roper was commissioned to undertake the design of the courtyard behind St Stephen Walbrook.

1975 – 1982

700AD

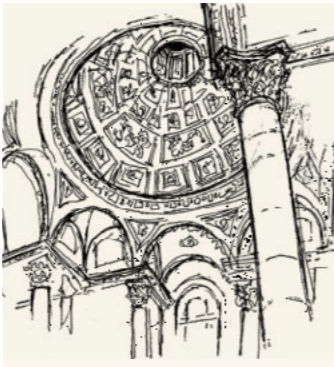

A CHRISTIAN CHURCH

It was on this site that the first Christians built a church over the temple to eradicate the pagan site.

1428

EXPANSION OF THE CHURCH

Due to the church and graveyard being too small for the parish, Robert Chicheley, a member of The Worshipful Company of Grocers gave land so a new church could be built approx. 20m to the east of the original location.

1669

ROYAL ARCHITECT APPOINTED

Sir Christopher Wren was appointed as the King's surveyor and Royal architect, commissioned to oversee the rebuilding programme.

1677-78

WONDERFUL WOODWORK

William Newman designed and carved the wooden font and pulpit.

18TH CENTURY

THE PRIDE OF ENGLISH ARCHITECTURE

By the eighteenth century, the building was famous all over Europe. The Italian sculptor-architect, Canova, said he would gladly return to feast his eyes once more on St. Paul's Cathedral, Somerset House, and, most of all, St. Stephen Walbrook, saying 'we have nothing to touch it in Rome'. Sir John Sommerson described the Church as 'the pride of English architecture, and one of the few City churches in which the genius of Wren shines in full splendour'.

1972

HENRY MOORE

Henry Moore designed and carved the circular altar.

1993

A SPLASH OF COLOUR

Patrick Heron designed the dazzling and colourful kneelers that surround Henry Moore's circular altar.

A PLACE OF CELEBRATION

PHOTOGRAPHY

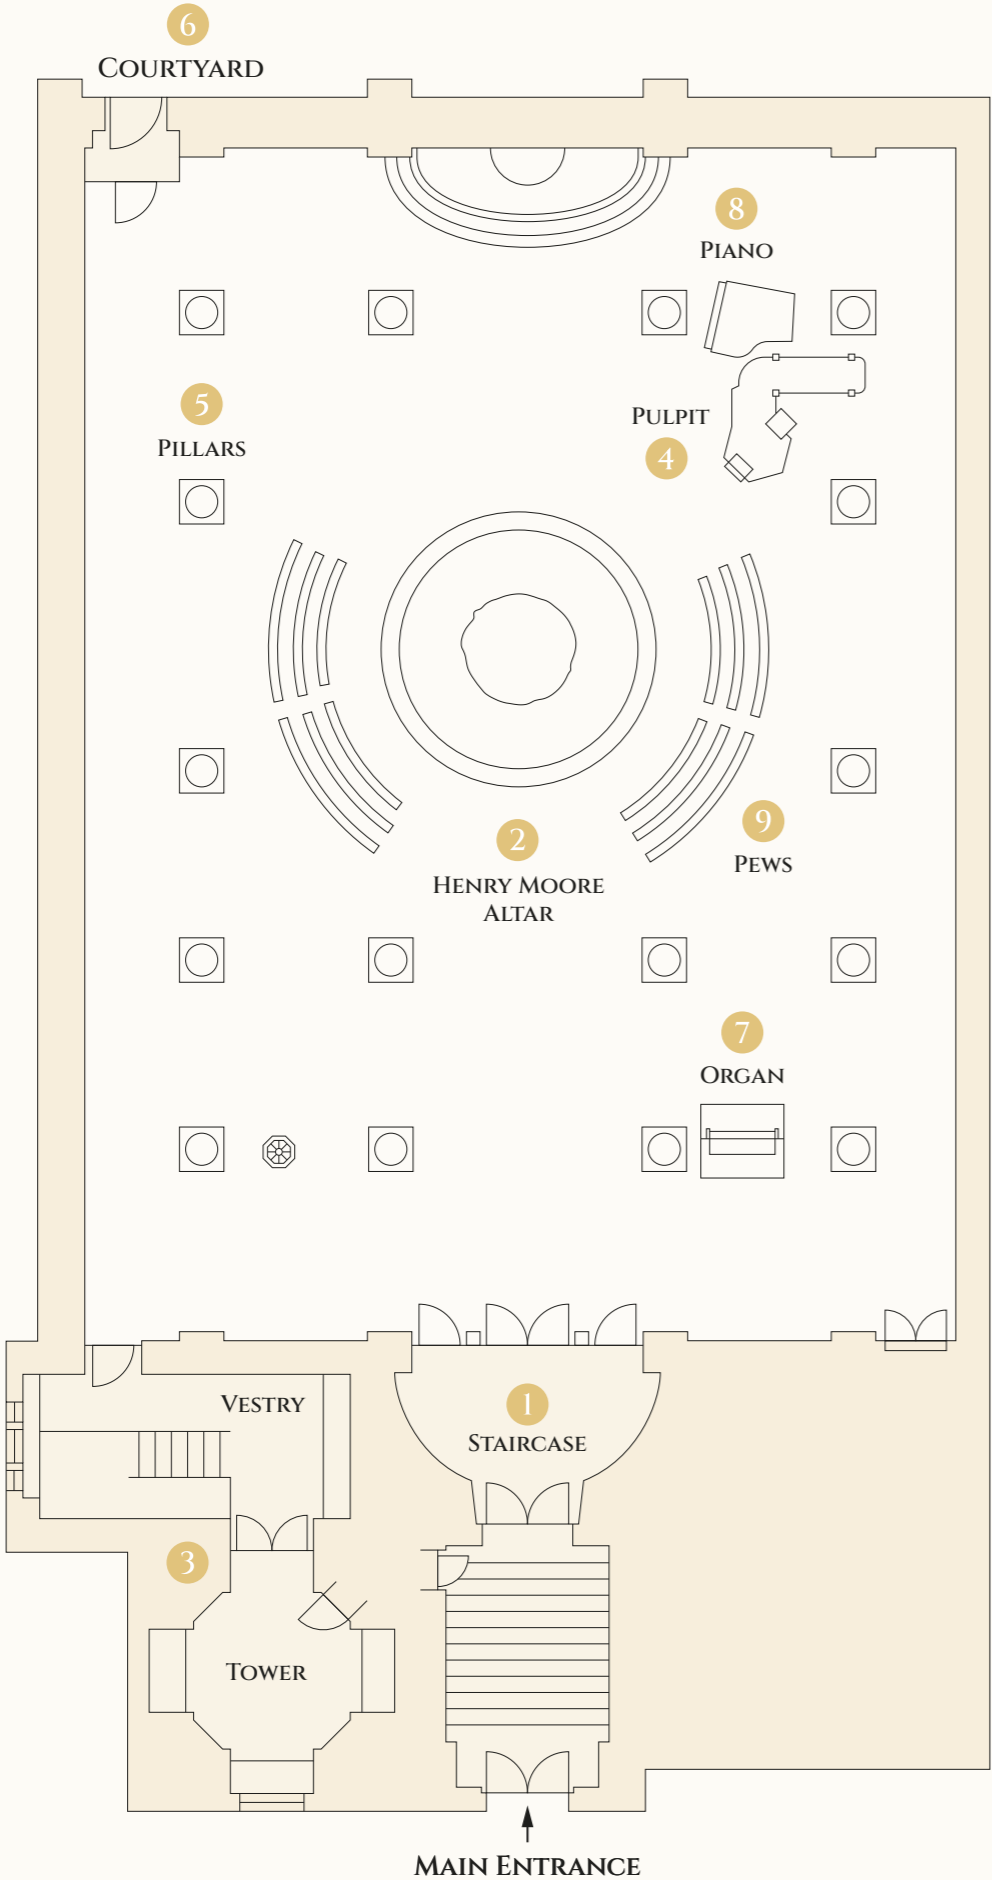

With its magnificent neoclassical architecture and stunning domed ceiling, St Stephen Walbrook provides the ideal filming and photography location that exudes a sense of grandeur and timelessness.

PRIVATE TOURS
& EXPERIENCES
30 GUESTS

Take a step back in time and discover the fascinating secrets of St Stephen Walbrook with our exclusive Morning and Evening Tours, available on select dates throughout the year. As one of only 30 guests, you'll have the privilege of exploring this magnificent church in peace and tranquillity.

OVERVIEW OF THE VENUE

1. MAIN ENTRANCE & STAIRCASE

The main entrance of the church lies on Walbrook, a short walk from Bank tube station. For your event, the double doors will be open ready for you to welcome guests with the support of one of our professional and friendly security guards. Make an excellent first impression by adding a red carpet or lanterns and candles to the stone staircase.

2. HENRY MOORE ALTAR

Located at the heart of the church and directly beneath Wren's magnificent domed ceiling lies a central circular altar. The altar was carved by Henry Moore from a single block of Travertine marble and installed in 1987. The bright and colourful kneelers were designed by Patrick Heron in 1993. For confident speakers, the platform surrounding the altar may be used for speeches.

3. VESTRY & TOWER

The tower within the vestry is where the venue team office is located. The vestry offers access to the crypt via a staircase where the venue facilities are located. This includes the 2/4 WCs and the kitchen area your caterers will use to prepare food. A catering manager will be located in this area throughout food service to ensure a seamless experience for guests who need to use the facilities while food is leaving the kitchen.

4. PULPIT

The beautifully crafted wooden pulpit is frequently used by the priest for weekly sermons and can be used by your speaker for important speeches and announcements. A lectern mic is already installed making impromptu speeches easy to accommodate.

5. PILLARS

Soaring neoclassical pillars run around the edge of the main space. We recommend using the pillars within the design of the event space and helping to manage guest flow. Why not position a bar, food station or seating area in between two columns? Add floral urns and uplighters to highlight the beautiful architecture and create a unique space to entertain your guests.

6. COURTYARD

Located behind the church is a private courtyard which was designed by Lanning Roper in the late 1970s. Weather permitting, the courtyard offers a tranquil garden oasis in the centre of London for summer drinks receptions and pre dinner drinks. The courtyard even has its own private entrance, allowing you to keep the main church space as a surprise for guests when welcomed into dinner.

7. THE ORGAN

The organ is available to use during exclusive venue hire, the church team will be able to recommend and book an organist on your behalf who has experience and is familiar with performing at St Stephen Walbrook.

8. PIANO

St Stephen Walbrook frequently hosts concerts and recitals and has a grand piano located close to the pulpit, that can be used for exclusive hire events.

9. PEWS

Curved wooden pews surround Henry Moore's altar and offer seating for up to 270 guests. The pews can be removed for dinner and receptions to allow space for furniture and guests to mingle.
