

MOORENO

Bringing people together
when it matters most.

In my family a funeral is about remembering the good times and knowing that Eugene is in a much better place.

— Nancy Walton

REMEMBER TOGETHER

There are countless reasons why we may be forced to miss the funeral of a loved one. As we live and work further apart than ever before, it's a situation that is becoming increasingly common. This doesn't make it easier.

But now there is a way to be there, whatever our circumstance. To remember, together.

His brother wasn't able to come to this service, so he watched it from Florida. His cousin from California — a lady that I have never met — got to see Eugene's kids as grown men.

— Nancy Walton

LOVED ONES WILL BE MISSED.
NOW, THEIR FUNERALS WON'T.

With technology an increasing part of our daily lives, more and more families around the world are choosing to OneRoom the funeral services of their loved ones.

Among the many benefits are:

- Remote guests can pay their respects and experience closure, alleviating any feelings of guilt and regret.
- Those who can't attend live can watch the service in their own time.
- Family and friends watch the service again – away from the emotion of the day. It proves an invaluable way to deal with their grief.
- The service preserved as a record for future generations, who may not have been old enough to attend at the time.

A meaningful funeral service for me is one that the family can share with their family and friends.

— Kyle Incardona, Funeral Director

YOU ONLY GET ONE CHANCE.

A better experience for the families

Families will appreciate that you offer webcasting so everyone can attend regardless of location or circumstances.

Memories Stored for a Lifetime.

Recordings are available for those that can't watch live, or to preserve the event for future generations. Password-protected access to the private online archive can be of comfort at a later time.

Increased value that leads to growth

High quality recording and streaming facility builds value into your chapel and service which can generate additional revenue

Bring your service to the 21st century

World-Leading Technology. Viewer controlled camera options, remote attendees will have an intimate experience of the service wherever they are.

We were fortunate that we had them film the service and have been able to watch the ones who were in the audience during the actual service. It was good to see their laughter. That's what I wanted to keep. So even though I cried, it helped me in the healing process.

— Nancy Walton

One room is so simple and easy to use. And the family just benefits so greatly from this.

— Kyle Incardona, Funeral Director

ABSOLUTE RELIABILITY

Fully Monitored Service. We've Got Your Back.

All systems we install are set to flag and in many cases automatically rectify any errors that may occur during a recording. Our team of technicians can remotely resolve issues in real time, meaning no disruption to the quality of the webcast.

100% Secure.

OneRoom is built using Amazon secure web servers. All streams are encrypted and secure and password controlled access means only those intended to view the service will do so.

Everything Backed-Up. Just in Case.

Every camera has an SD card, which backs up each service recording. If the net goes down (it can happen!) OneRoom can remotely access the SD card and restore a clean and complete recording for access on demand.

YOU CARE, WE SHARE

We've designed OneRoom to be as simple to use as possible for both funeral directors and the families that choose to take advantage of it. Here's how the process goes:

OneRoom was allowing the families to add emails as they see fit. People you wouldn't expect can now see the service.

— Kyle Incardona, Funeral Director

Schedule

Once the details of the event are finalized, simply enter the time and date into the system. And that's it – no further action is required to OneRoom the service, meaning you can concentrate fully on your customers.

The really nice thing with One Room is the two views. So not only can she see the minister, but she can hit another button and see the friends that she doesn't remember were there for her.

— Kyle Incardona, Funeral Director

Invite

The family member organizing the service will receive an email invitation that they can forward to as many online guests as they choose. Each guest can access the live stream or view the recording at the click of a button. OneRoom will keep track through an online guest register so the family know exactly who attended.

Record & View

When the service begins, the cameras start rolling automatically. Simple as that. Any remote guests watching live or later can select from multiple cameras, providing options to focus on the speakers, the guests or the tribute screen.

Sometimes services can run on a bit longer than expected. OneRoom's Remote App puts the control in your hands to extend or end the recording from your smartphone.

We always say at the end of a service: only when you stop talking about your loved one, that's when they're gone from your life.

— Kyle Incardona, Funeral Director

Watch Again

For those that can't make the day – or those who want to watch again – the recording of the service is available online following the service using the same login codes. Families can also download the recording onto a file or DVD, to preserve the memories for generations to come.

The live stream and recording can be linked to your online tribute pages for easy access by family and friends enabling them to purchase flowers or leave messages of support while they listen to the service.

SIMPLE

No Operation Required

You and your staff can concentrate fully on providing care for the family. Our 'set and forget' system means that cameras start and stop recording automatically, with no input required on the day from you or your staff. It couldn't be simpler.

Installation Taken Care Of

No figuring out which wire connects where - one of our specialists will install all the required cameras in your chapel or funeral home, working with you where necessary to ensure the best angles and camera positions. A 30-minute briefing on how to use the technology is all it takes then you're ready for OneRoom - no buttons to press, no computers to operate.

Discreet and Unobtrusive

With no wires or cables in the way, no adjustment of equipment required and cameras placed in discreet locations, neither your staff nor guests will be distracted by technology on the day.

Ongoing Support

Should you require any support or have any questions about your OneRoom product, our team of technicians are on hand every working day on a toll-free number. Our ability to connect to all equipment online means we can often see and repair issues before you even know they are there. In the unlikely event that equipment needs repair, we will send a technician to take care of it immediately.
