

Parent/Guardian Notification of Illness or Injury

Camp administration will make reasonable efforts to notify the parent/guardian or designated group care home representative in the following situations:

Illness

- Fever of 101.4°F (38°C) or higher
- Vomiting or diarrhea
- Symptoms suggestive of communicable illness
- Persistent or escalating pain
- Any condition requiring early dismissal from camp
- Any illness deemed significant by camp staff

Injury

- Head injury of any kind
- Suspected sprain, fracture, or dislocation
- Lacerations that may require sutures
- Injury involving significant swelling, bruising, or limited mobility
- Repeated or unresolved complaints of pain
- Any injury requiring medical evaluation beyond basic first aid

Medical Events

- Administration of emergency medication (including but not limited to epinephrine, seizure rescue medication, or other emergency interventions)
- Allergic reactions beyond mild, localized symptoms
- Seizure activity outside of documented baseline presentation
- Any change in medical status requiring monitoring or medical consultation

Camp staff reserve the right to notify parents/guardians of any incident deemed medically significant, even if not specifically listed above.

Minor First Aid

Minor injuries such as small cuts, abrasions, bruises, or routine first aid interventions may be treated on-site without immediate parent notification. Such incidents will be documented and communicated at pick-up or through standard reporting procedures unless circumstances warrant earlier communication.

Limitation of Liability

The camp, its directors, employees, and volunteers shall not be held liable for injuries or illnesses arising from participation in camp activities, except in cases of gross negligence or willful misconduct. All reasonable precautions are taken to maintain a safe environment; however, the camp cannot eliminate all risk.

Documentation

All reportable medical incidents will be documented in writing and maintained in accordance with camp policy. Documentation may include incident reports, witness statements, and records of communication attempts.

Parent Responsibility

Parents/guardians are responsible for:

- Providing accurate and up-to-date medical information in CampDocs
- Notifying camp of changes in health status
- Ensuring emergency contact information remains current
- Providing required medications and instructions

Failure to provide accurate medical or contact information may impact the camp's ability to respond appropriately.
