

SEAMLESS JOINT PAVING

HOW DOES GANI ACHIEVE SEAMLESS JOINT PAVING TECHNOLOGY?

FLATNESS
0.05%

CTE
 $6.8-7.0 \times 10^{-6} (^{\circ}\text{C}^{-1})$

WATER ABSORPTION
0.02-0.03%

- 2x stricter flatness and dimensional deviation control
- 10x lower water absorption rate
- Lower thermal expansion coefficient than that of metals and steels
- Systematic operational standard developed with advanced expertise of European construction standard.

SENSE OF ONENESS

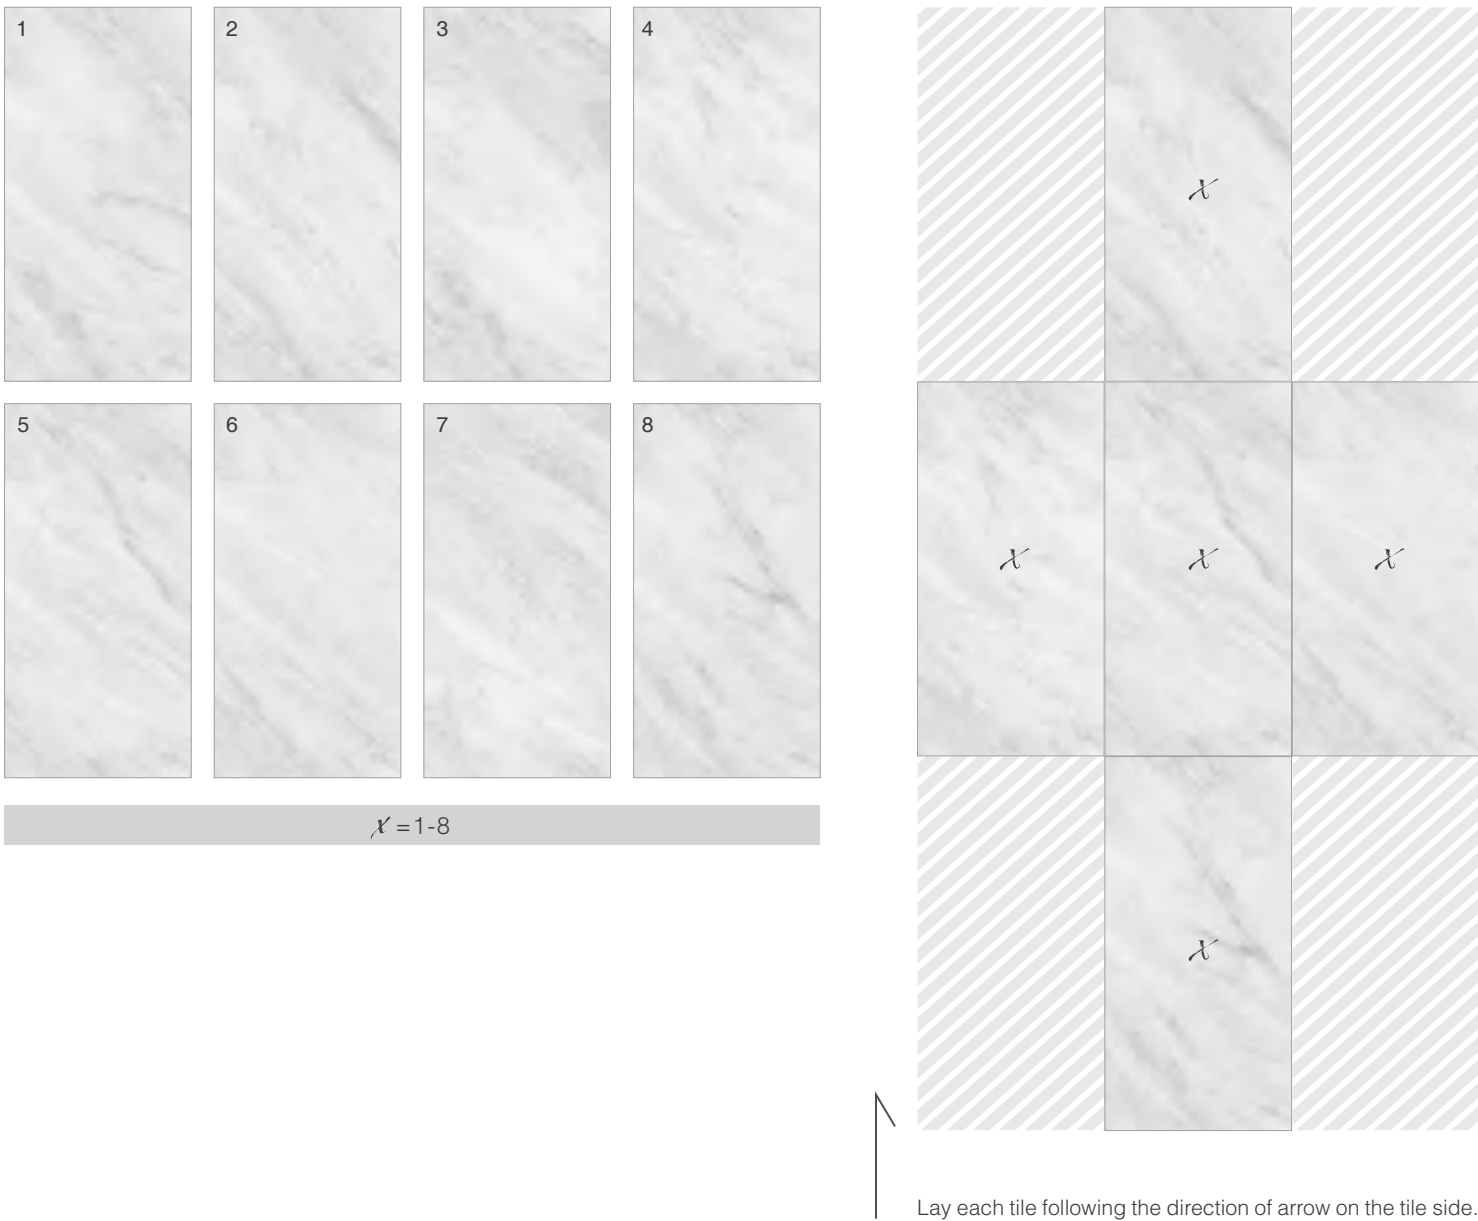

Uninterrupted veins in unlimited pattern without repetition unlock an immersive natural quarry experience.

RANDOM CONNECTED VEINS

When each tile is paved following the direction of arrow on the tile side, it's possible to lay all the patterns in any order and always get veins connected with no repetition, perfectly to show the beauty of space extension. Also, easiness in installation. All connected veins products can be paved in an infinite design.

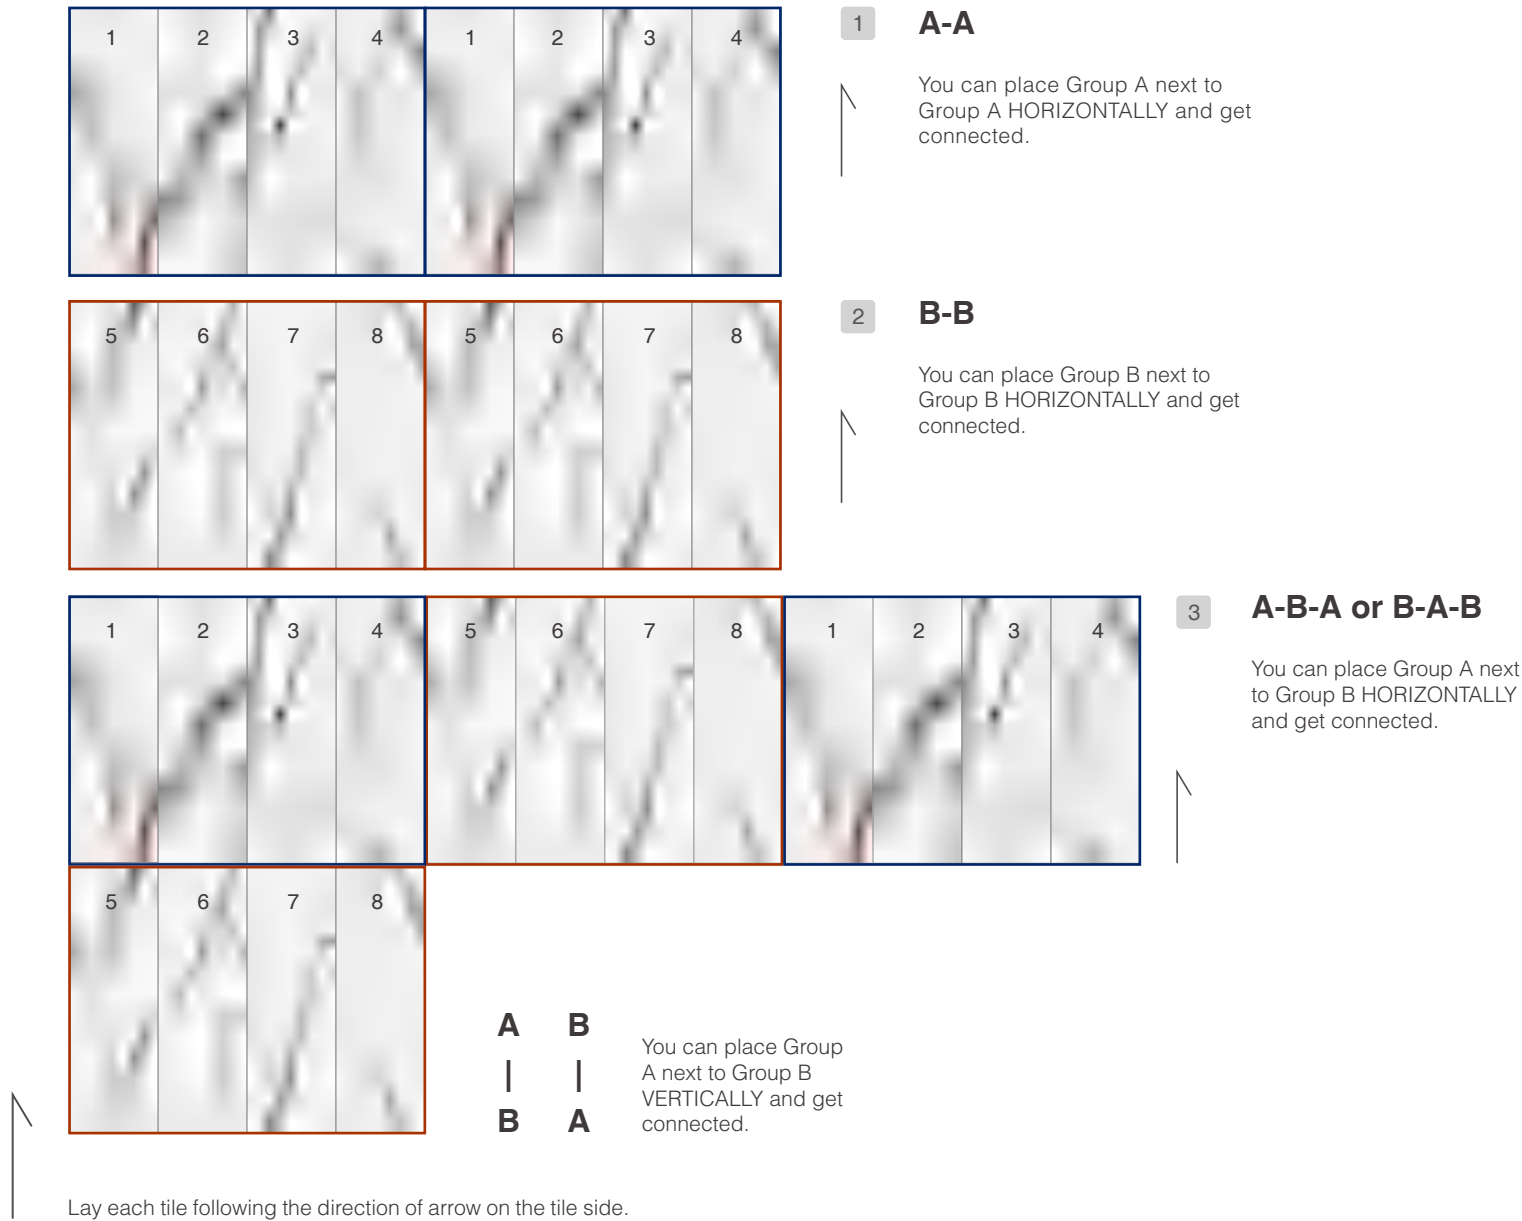

SEQUENTIAL CONNECTED VEINS

Arrange the tiles in a pre-set sequence and achieve a holistic spatial effect. All connected veins products can be paved in an infinite design.

Pattern 1-4 highlighted in Blue Box belongs to Group A.
Pattern 5-8 highlighted in Red Box belongs to Group B.

To feel.
To touch.
To enjoy the natural beauty of
GANI MARBLE TILES.

CALACATTA

D*2808BM/BS/N/NG

This very special marble is extracted in the north of Tuscany, in the land of Carrara, only from a single mountain called Calacatta. This stone is famous for the bold dramatic grey veining on the pure white background. A lot of famous artists loved to carve their statues in this precious stone for the “uniformity” of the veining: Calacatta was the favorite marble of Michelangelo. We can find this white marble in churches, cathedrals and castles in every part of Europe, as the Basilica of Sacré Coeur in Monmatre.

CALACATTA GOLD

D*2852BM/BS/N

Calacatta Gold is a precious marble extracted in Italy, in only one quarry in the world, near the Carrara area. This marble does not follow a linear pattern: The peculiarities of this rare stone with a brecciated structure are the dramatic and unstructured golden veins on the white butter background. The special color tone warms up every ambience, giving an elegant and lighter appearance, especially in bathrooms, SPAs or hotels. The “movement” of the veining finds its maximum expression in large surfaces, like floor and wall coverings.

White marbles can trace its history to Mounts Apennine, Alps and Apuan in regions of Tuscany in northern Italy all the way to the Jurassic Era over 190 million years ago. Lime sediments undersea brought tremendous changes to the crystal structure of rocks and uncovered the most precious marble treasure in the world. During the Renaissance in the 15th century, Sculptor Michelangelo spent 9 months at Mount Apennine, adjacent to mount Cararra, in search of marble with vitality for completing his sculpture ---David. "I saw the angel in the marble; I carved until I set him free." He finally presented to the world one of the greatest statues. Sculptors such as Michelangelo, Leonardo Da Vinci often-used the most premium white marbles in the world, including Statuario Calacatta: which originates from Mount Apuan, featured with natural carving patterns.

ONICE CAPPUCCINO

D*2888BM

Onice Cappuccino is one of the most precious and prestigious onyx. Ancient greeks call this stone “onyks” because of the analogy with the nails, that are slightly glossy and transparent. Extracted in Iran and Egypt Onice Cappuccino was used for temples and palaces, adding precious details in rich buildings or to make bowls and pottery items. In his Naturalis Historia Pliny the Elder described the types of onyx and various artificial treatment techniques. The cloudy warm yellow and the brown shady veins are perfect for elegant details and to be combined with white or dark marbles.

DIAMOND BLUE

D*8883BM

Diamond Blue can date back to 150million years ago. It consists of marble granite formed in the Cretaceous Age from Andes mountain range, the longest continental mountain range in the world. 28 million years ago, the volcanic outbreak and earthquake triggered by crustal movement lifted the elevation of Andes up by 1500 meters. In the ice age of 2 million years ago, Lago General Carrera, located in the border of Argentina and Chile, generated a spectacular natural landscape palace of Diamond blue marble- Marble Chapell after tremendous changes caused by glacier, moraine lake, glaciers melt, small particles crystallization, enabling us to appreciate the geological wonders thousands of years ago. Sky-blue caves and precious diamond blue marble are rare to be found. GANI, specializing in the research and development of blue crystal dry granules and crystal quartz, pioneered the creation of Diamond Blue around the world and pushed forward the aesthetics of global architectural design into new height by simulating early crustal movement and adopting computerized craftsmanship.

VERDE ALPI

D*8818BM

During the geological changes in cretaceous period over 150 million years ago, Alps was still part of the ancient Mediterranean. Alps is categorized as folded mountain at tertiary period. After great glacial epoch, it was transformed into jagged rocks of grotesque shapes. The Alpine orogeny over 70 million years ago created three-dimensional symphony-like natural rocks composed of forests, ice, snow, limestone, clay , shale and sandstone, creating the best materials for the world's space aesthetics -Alpine green marble.

VERDE LAPPONIA

D* 8788SN

Inspired by the rare textures of melaleuca, hornblende, and garnet crystals on the Norwegian mountains, Verde Lapponia came into being. The rich and harmonious colour combination contour hills on a canvas. Just like an oil painting, the green hills, wheat fields, and crops form a comfortable and relaxing vibe for ordinary people. It serves as a perfect background wall for interior design. The original stones have also been used in the Saihe Castle and the hotels of the Lillehammer Winter Games.

ROSA NORVEGIA

D*4836BM

Rosa Norvegia Marble is a kind of pink marble quarried in Norway. It is a metamorphic rock resulting from regional or at times contact metamorphism of sedimentary carbonate rocks. Rosa Norvegia marble is a commercial name for a fine to medium-grained, white-pink magnesian marble. It is characterized by an interesting light pink background color and delicate whiteness, forming uniform patterns on the natural stone. Its extremely vivid and warm-toned patterns make it a favorite decorative material, suitable for pink/red theme shop and restaurant, artworks and theme hotel rooms.

Mount Montagnola, stretched over Siena city in central Italy, is clad in sunflowers, hollies, castanea mollissimas and honeysuckles. In Triassic Era over 250 million years ago, the golden breccias buried in the metamorphic stratum of Mount Apennine gave birth to the splendid sunflower-looking marble---Giallo Siena. In 301 AD, Roman Emperor Diocles claimed Giallo Siena as the royal special marble. Nowadays we can still perceive the elegance of Giallo Siena in Florence Duomo Cathedral and Florence Library. GANI Giallo Siena, produced with giallo ores and GANI unique craftsmanship, revives the magnificence and grandeur of royal marble.

ITALIAN PORTORO
600X900mm

ITALIAN PORTORO

D*6835BM

Quarried in Italy, this elegant marble is a natural black stone with unique intense golden veins. In Roman times, it made extensive use of marble in Portoro imperial villas and probably was also used in the construction of the temple dedicated to Venus on the end of the Gulf of La Spezia on which it was built after the church of San Pietro. The name derives from Portorož, Italian translation of the French term or doors ("golden door") with which it was called during the French domination. Originally it was called "mixed yellow and white", was later named "Jade of Portovenere." This rock is very elegant and refined, one of the most luxurious marble.

NERO MARQUINA

D*6640BM/BS/N

Nero Marquina Marble originated from Markina Mountain in the basque region of northern Spain. The Basque Mountains (Montes Vascos), located in the northern Iberian Peninsula and the eastern Pyrenees, is geologically considered as the“ Basque Threshold” orogenic belt. Nero Marquina whose elegant and exquisite white clouds texture integrated with mountains covered by dark forest, presented a black-and-white perception, created an aesthetic effect that enshrines the unity of man and universe, and delivered unparalleled imagination and creativity. For this reason it was considered as a high-quality black marble and favored by global designers. Because of the marbles ‘elegance and esthetics, the world Design Pritzker winner Mr. Frank Gehry use it to design “Marques De Riscal” and Mr. Santiago Calatrava did the same for his Ysios Winery in Basque Mountains.
