Miscellaneous:

Chief Brzozowski said that they had been helping Codes with inspections and house problems. They have had to contact Adult Protective Services, as well and red tag a house. They were up to the new hotel this morning doing fire stopping inspections. He received the quarterly reports on the three paramedics. They have all finished phase I and have started their clinicals. So far, they are doing well.

Mayor Buckley stated that the Fire Department has exceeded all of last year's EMS numbers. They have been working with surrounding municipalities regarding emergency services. Canisteo will be meeting with them at the end of December. They have a call with Hartsville later today. Hornellsville has signed their contract already. Chief spoke of the hospitals being overwhelmed and mental health cases are overwhelming right now, as well.

Chief Murray stated that crossing guards are still needed. Chief has been looking into a class for seized computer and phone analysis that the secret service puts on and funds. There is an opening in February. Dan Murray is a good candidate, as he has some computer knowledge. The equipment is included with this. There was a person of interest last week that the police department got a search warrant for, yesterday. They found pieces of the gun they were looking for and he was arrested for a drug case. All new vehicles are on the road. There are now three vehicles assigned to each shift. This means less wear and tear on all of the vehicles.
