Human Hair Wigs

These instructions are intended for professional hair stylists.

- 1) First, brush through the hair to loosen any knots or foreign matter. Always use a brush with single bristles that have protective tips. This will protect hand tied knots and will not pull on the hair. (Elite has this type of brush, ask about it.) Do not use a standard brush, such as boar bristles or any brush with more than one bristle coming out of the base at any one point.
- 2) To wash color treated or damaged hair, simply prepare a solution of water and shampoo in a bowl or basin with one or two quarts, depending upon the size of the wig. Do not use hot water, only cool water is recommended. Follow the directions on the manufacturer's container for the ratio of water versus shampoo.
- 3) While holding the wig in one hand, take a cup in the other hand and pour the shampoo solution on the hair and base foundation, so the solution continues to run through the hair in a downward direction. Repeat this several times. Make sure to always keep the solution running through the hair in a downward direction. Never allow hand-made human hair articles to soak in any kind of water solution whether washing, rinsing or conditioning. Never place hand-made human hair articles in solutions and swish or slosh up and down. This can cause tangling as the cuticles can cling to each other.
- 4) Rinsing is primarily done in the same manner, with clean and cool water running in the same direction, from the base through the hair, to the ends of the hair length. The main reason for this is that the cuticles in hand-made human hair articles can cause trouble in some items. It does not take much effort or intense strong handling to wash hairpieces.
- 5) While your hand-made human hair wig is still wet, spray on a quality leave-in conditioner that is designed for color treated or damaged hair. This will make brushing much easier, with less tangling and knotting. (Elite Hair Designs has designed a leave-in conditioner for color treated hair, ask about it.) Always brush wet hair from the very bottom or ends, working your way up slowly and gently. At this point, you can proceed to block the wig to the styling block, to set or re-style.
