CENTERRA CO-OP Fueling the CURE

GOLF OUTING

This year's Fueling the Cure golf

outing took place Friday, July 25 at The Pines Golf Club in Orrville, OH. The day was hot, but well worth the cause. There were fun games, prizes and a catered lunch for the 100+ people in attendance.

Through this event we were able to raise $50,000 for cancer research at The James and The Ohio State University. We are so very thankful for all the support for this event and for cancer research.

ROUND BALE CONTEST

Grafton Grain and the Grafton Country Store worked together to create this combine from round bales for the Lorain County Fair Straw Bale Contest. They placed 4th out of 19. Congrats!

COSHOCTON GRAIN

We are pleased to announce that we are in the final stages of purchasing Coshocton Grain Company. Coshocton Grain operates two key facilities: a soybean processing plant and a rail loading facility in Coshocton, Ohio, and a grain facility in Hebron, Ohio, just 30 miles east of Columbus. The Coshocton plant uses ExPress® technology to produce high-quality extruded soybean meal and soy oil. The Hebron location specializes in loading grain into intermodal containers for export. Centerra will continue operating both facilities, adding them to its growing network of agricultural services. The Hebron site will complement Centerra's existing intermodal shipping operations in Grafton, Ohio, giving the Co-op more capacity and flexibility when it comes to moving grain to market.

"This addition brings an exciting and innovative business unit to our Co-op," said Jean Bratton, CEO. "Diversifying our services is key to long-term success, and this opportunity will open up new markets for our members' grain. It also helps spread our footprint across more geography, which can protect against weather-related risks. We look forward to working together to support local farmers with reliable, forward-thinking services that help them succeed today and into the future."

Teams from Coshocton and Centerra are already working together to ensure a smooth transition.

CUSTOMER APPRECIATION

Our Burton fuel site will host a Customer Appreciation September 17-19 from 10AM-3PM. Customers can stop by to enjoy refreshments, special pricing on gas and diesel at the pump (does not include delivered fuels), and giveaways. The Centerra Fuel and Sunoco sales team will also be in attendance.
