COLOUR ME

From the Chaplain's Desk

I always thank the Lord for September. I thank Him for summer's memories and fall's promises because I am grateful for both. And if I'm honest, I'm especially grateful to be drinking pumpkin spice coffee!

September has always felt like the real new year to me. It is the month when the air shifts, the light changes, and everything feels like a fresh start even if you're not in school anymore. The garden is producing its last harvest. The days are noticeably shorter. There's this sense of gathering what we can before winter comes, of preparing for the season ahead while also celebrating what we've grown.

September invites both reflection and anticipation, gratitude for what was and hope for what's coming.

This month may we be encouraged to cherish family, nurture friendships, and welcome happiness in everyday life. With each passing day, we can find small joys, stay motivated, and celebrate achievements. I pray this month will be filled with hope, love, and countless September blessings.
